

A photograph of a misty forest path. Two dirt roads diverge from a single point in the foreground, disappearing into a dense forest of tall, thin trees. The ground is covered in fallen leaves and grass, and the air is thick with mist, creating a soft, ethereal atmosphere. The lighting is diffused, with no harsh shadows.

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

—The Road Not Taken
Robert Frost

The Road Less Traveled And Not For Just US Thomas Thoms Steven,2020-04-14 The men and women that have made a difference in the world they inhabited that made a difference in the lives of people they never knew had lives that mostly went unheralded by the historians of the world The man from Nazareth did not just decide one day that he was going to bring his people back to the creator of their world Before he was a man he was a boy before being a boy he was a child Before being a child he was the result of the love of a man and a woman expressed in their physical union Brought up with an expectation that he would be a blessing to his family and the people of his society he rose to those expectations Looking to see good in all the people he encountered he shared his desire that others would see the good Growing with the love of both father and mother he shared this love with his siblings and with all he met in his life Just into his 22nd year he tells us I was barely past my twenty second year already an elder in my community and running a successful business I know my father would have been proud I was seeking a union with a woman I knew would challenge me to even greater and better service to family community and the God of my fathers What I failed to understand was that I had my priorities out of order His growth is first in his physical maturation This growth is accompanied by growth in his desire to learn all that the men he came in contact with could teach him His learning is not limited by the mother and father he has It is their love that prepares him for his role in life as the husband and father of the family he creates The Road Less Traveled is about the man and what he was given so that he would be prepared to give and to be prepared to then again receive
