Women Writing Culture Ruth Behar, Deborah A. Gordon, 1995 Extrait de la couverture Here for the first time is a book that brings women's writings out of exile to rethink anthropology's purpose at the end of the century. As a historical resource the collection undertakes fresh readings of the work of well known women anthropologists and also reclaims the writings of women of color for anthropology. As a critical account it bravely interrogates the politics of authorship. As a creative endeavor it embraces new Feminist voices of ethnography that challenge prevailing definitions of theory and experimental writing.

Women Writing Culture Gary A. Olson, Elizabeth Hirsh, 1995-09-28 Women Writing Culture is a collection of six interviews with internationally prominent scholars about feminism, rhetoric, writing, and multiculturalism. Those interviewed include feminist philosopher of science Sandra Harding, cultural critic and philosopher of science Donna Haraway, noted American theorist of women's epistemology Mary Belenky, African American cultural critic bell hooks, Luce Irigaray, a major exponent of French Feminism, and Jean Francois Lyotard, a philosopher and cultural critic who has helped to define the postmodern condition. Together these interviews afford significant insight into these eminent scholars' perspectives on women, writing, and culture, and explore how women write culture through the various postmodern discourses in which they engage.

Women Writing Across Cultures Pelagia Goulimari, 2018-10-22 This collection brings together an international, multicultural, multilingual, and multidisciplinary community of scholars and practitioners in different media seeking to question and re-theorize the contested terms of our title. Woman writing, women's writing, and across Culture is translated into an open series of interconnected terms and questions. How might one write across national cultures or across a national and a minority culture or across disciplines, genres and media or across synchronic discourses that are unequal in power or across present and past discourses or present and future discourses? The collection explores and develops recent feminist, queer, and transgender theory and criticism and also aesthetic practice. Writing across assumes a number of orientations: posthumanist, transtemporal, transnationalist writing across discourses, disciplines, media, genres, genders, writing across pronouns, he/she/they writing across literature, non-literary texts and life. This book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki: Journal of the Theoretical Humanities.      Infiltrating Culture Mireille Rosello, 1996 Mireille Rosello's analysis.

Gender and Genre in Ethnographic Writing Elisabeth Tauber, Dorothy L. Zinn, 2021-07-09 This book provides new insights into an intense and long standing debate on women gender and masculinity with an explicit focus on ethnographic writing The six contributors to this book investigate and discuss the multiple connections between ethnographic writing and gender in both the history of anthropology and contemporary anthropology underlining problems potentialities stereotypes experiments continuities changes and challenges Building on a prologue by two Malinowski grandchildren and an exploration of the role that Bronislaw Malinowski's first wife Elsie Masson played in his literary presentation the anthropologists collected here problematize writing gender and gendered writing in ethnography revealing how these twin themes touch the history of the discipline itself and the classics of anthropology Has the legacy of Writing Culture and Women Writing Culture obviated the need to consider gender in writing Or could it be that the very mechanics of ethnographic writing are still imbued with hidden gendered divisions of labor Following the editors extensive overview of the question the contributing authors tackle gender and ethnographic writing from various vantages with a view to the past but also to the influence of previous feminist critiques in the present and with accounts of the issues they themselves have faced and the solutions they have devised

Feminist Views of the Social Sciences Christine Williams, 2000-09 Among the many achievements of the feminist movement of the 1970s was the unprecedented influx of women into academia Over the last 25 years women have entered the social sciences in huge numbers bringing with them new perspectives and new insights into the social world This special issue of The Annals reflects on this multivocal richly textured and dynamic revolution From anthropology to psychology to geography to criminology and more leading feminists reflect on the most significant contributions of feminist activism and feminist research to their fields Two main themes run through this volume the relationship between feminist scholarship and feminist activism and the enduring controversies and future direction of feminist social science The contributions run the gamut from the impact of feminism on specific social science disciplines such as family studies archaeology political science and media studies to the influence of feminist thought on specific topics such as federally funded social science migration media practices and sexuality The main conclusion of this volume is that where reigning paradigms are strong and the accepted methodologies are limited feminist perspectives tend to be marginalized On the other hand fields that are theoretically eclectic and interdisciplinary appear to be the most welcoming to feminist influence
