Information in Elementary School Nancy Frey, Douglas Fisher, 2007 Reading for Information in Elementary School Content Literacy Strategies to Build Comprehension was written to give K-5 teachers the tools they need to lay an educational groundwork that promotes students' success with informational text from the early grades. Packed with research-based classroom-proven strategies, the book follows a before-during-and-after reading format that models the most effective approach to reading for information, focusing on the processes required to develop content literacy. You'll meet the teachers, sit in on their lessons, witness their students' responses, and come away from this book with a model for teaching your students to read successfully for information and a handbook of proven strategies to implement. Features: Examples of instructional strategies. This book follows six elementary teachers, grades K-5, as they utilize strategies with informational texts. These examples are detailed and include student and teacher dialogue to provide readers with the sense they are watching the lesson unfold. Each focus instructional strategy is research-based. The instructional strategies outlined in this book have a research base and have been implemented in schools across the country. Margin notes provide readers with additional information and resources. Readers are referred to other sources of information at common places that they may have questions. A clear process for organizing instruction is provided. The strategies and texts presented in the book follow the before-during-after instructional organization used by teachers to foster reading comprehension. Book covers of informational texts. Each chapter features the covers and bibliographical information of some of the best informational texts available today.

Storying Plants in Australian Children's and Young Adult Literature Melanie Duckworth, Annika Herb, 2023-10-04 Storying Plants in Australian Children's and Young Adult Literature Roots and Winged Seeds explores cultural and historical aspects of the representation of plants in Australian children's and young adult literature encompassing colonial, postcolonial, and Indigenous perspectives. While plants tend to be backgrounded as of less narrative interest than animals and humans, this book, in conversation with the field of critical plant studies, approaches them as living beings worthy of attention. Australia is home to over 20,000 species of native plants, from pungent Eucalypts to twisting mangroves, from tiny orchids to spiky silvery spinifex. Indigenous Australians have lived with, relied upon, and cultivated these plants for many thousands of years. When European explorers and colonists first invaded Australia, unfamiliar species of plants captured their imagination. Vulnerable to bushfires, climate change, and introduced species, plants continue to occupy fraught but vital places in Australian ecologies, texts, and cultures. Discussing writers from Ambelin Kwaymullina and Auntie Joy Murphy to May Gibbs and Ethel Turner, and embracing transnational perspectives from Ukraine, Poland, and Aotearoa New Zealand, Storying Plants addresses the stories told about plants but also the stories that plants themselves tell, engaging with the wide-ranging significance of plants in Australian children's and Young Adult literature.
