The Visual Turn The Visual Turn

John Bonnett

The Visual Turn The Visual Turn:

The Visual Turn Angela Dalle Vacche, 2003 This collection of essays demonstrates the usefulness of looking at cinema with the analytical methods provided by art theory The Visual Turn is a dialogue between art historians and film theorists from the silent period to the aftermath of World War II

The Visual Culture Reader Nicholas Mirzoeff, 2002 The diverse essays collected here constitute an exploration of the emerging interdisciplinary field of visual culture and examine why modern and postmodern culture place such a premium on rendering experience in visual form

The Visual Turn Sandria Freitag, 2017-10-02 The Visual Turn South Asia Across the Disciplines explores new perspectives made possible by the evidence drawn from visual culture This evidence is utilized by historians literary analysts anthropologists and in a new way art historians Focusing on built environments within their urban contexts the interactions of buildings roads and bodies the meaning making achieved through consumption of images on their own or in concert with literary texts all contribute to a much broader and deeper understanding of change in South Asia Juxtaposed these case studies not only approach their topics in a multi disciplinary manner but also make clear just what scholars from various disciplines can learn from each other to add nuance and depth to their own analyses In the process the authors demonstrate how the application of different methods and theorizing when coupled with a fascinating range of types of evidence contribute to a significant broadening of our abilities to interpret the past and the present In particular these essays bring new ways of thinking about cities as well as the multiple ways that visual culture contributes to individual and collective forms of identity narratives that are negotiated at key moments of change in South Asia Readers will see their own materials and historicized contexts with new eyes This book was published as a special issue of South Asia Journal of South Asian Studies

The Visual Turn and the Transformation of the Textbook James A. LaSpina, 2014-04-04 A study and analysis of how the computer is transforming the textbook and our modes of literacy from print based to visual forms

Visual Culture: What is visual culture studies? Joanne Morra, Marquard Smith, 2006 These texts represent both the formation of visual culture and the ways in which it has transformed and continues to transform our understanding and experience of the world as a visual domain

Defining Visual Rhetorics Charles A. Hill, Marguerite Helmers, 2012-08-21 Images play an important role in developing consciousness and the relationship of the self to its surroundings In this distinctive collection editors Charles A Hill and Marguerite Helmers examine the connection between visual images and persuasion or how images act rhetorically upon viewers Chapters included here highlight the differences and commonalities among a variety of projects identified as visual rhetoric leading to a more precise definition of the term and its role in rhetorical studies Contributions to this volume consider a wide variety of sites of image production from architecture to paintings from film to needlepoint in order to understand how images and texts work upon readers as symbolic forms of representation Each chapter discusses analyzes and explains the visual aspect of a particular subject and illustrates the ways in which messages and meaning are communicated visually The contributions include work from rhetoric scholars in the English and communication disciplines and represent a variety of methodologies theoretical textual analysis psychological research and cultural studies among others The editors seek to demonstrate that every new turn in the study of rhetorical practices reveals more possibilities for discussion and that the recent turn to the visual has revealed an inexhaustible supply of new questions problems and objects for investigation As a whole the chapters presented here demonstrate the wide range of scholarship that is possible when a field begins to take seriously the analysis of images as important cultural and rhetorical forces Defining Visual Rhetorics is appropriate for graduate or advanced undergraduate courses in rhetoric English mass communication cultural studies technical communication and visual studies It will also serve as an insightful resource for researchers scholars and educators interested in rhetoric cultural studies and communication studies
