Communication Sciences and Disorders Jack S. Damico, Martin J. Ball, 2019-03-01 The SAGE Encyclopedia of Human Communication Sciences and Disorders is an in depth encyclopedia aimed at students interested in interdisciplinary perspectives on human communication both normal and disordered across the lifespan. This timely and unique set will look at the spectrum of communication disorders from causation and prevention to testing and assessment through rehabilitation intervention and education. Examples of the interdisciplinary reach of this encyclopedia. A strong focus on health issues with topics such as Asperger's syndrome, fetal alcohol syndrome, anatomy of the human larynx, dementia, etc. Including core psychology and cognitive sciences topics such as social development, stigma, language acquisition, self help groups, memory, depression, memory. Behaviorism and cognitive development. Education is covered in topics such as cooperative learning, special education, classroom based service delivery. The editors have recruited top researchers and clinicians across multiple fields to contribute to approximately 640 signed entries across four volumes.

Exercises for Voice Therapy Alison Behrman, John Haskell, 2008 Included are forty nine exercises each presented in a consistent format from voice therapists who collectively present tasks organized into a cohesive activity for one or more therapeutic goals. The accompanying CD contains recordings of twenty one of the exercises to provide an aural model for those exercises that may be difficult to interpret from the written text alone.

Manual of Voice Therapy Rex J. Prater, Roger W. Swift, 1990 New edition of a reference for clinicians that contains the most pertinent voice information. Deem speech communication disorders, U of Kentucky and speech language pathology clinical services, U of Kentucky Hospital and Miller speech language clinician present ten chapters that discuss introductory material, anatomy and physiology of voice production, the voice evaluation, phonotrauma and trauma related dysphonias, voice therapy treatments for phonotrauma, disorders of vocal resonance, laryngectomy rehabilitation and functional psychogenic, spasmodic, congenital and neurogenic dysphonias. Born to Talk Lloyd M. Hulit, Merle R. Howard, Kathleen R. Fahey, 2011 In a new fifth edition that offers exciting expansions and updates, Born To Talk continues to provide college students of all levels with a contemporary and comprehensive view of speech and language development in a reader friendly and interactive manner. Structured to reflect the actual development of language in a child, this engaging text introduces readers to research based information on the nature of human communication, theories of language and cognitive development, the anatomy and physiology of speech, milestones of language and literacy, cultural and linguistic diversity in language acquisition and speech and language disorders. The new revised fifth edition of Born To Talk includes up to date research on the impact of parent child interactions, language samples from one child across the first three years and emergent literacy in preschool. The revision also expands on the acquisition of the sound system and brings an integrated perspective of childhood language disorders through case examples. New to this Edition: New research is covered throughout the book regarding the impact of parent child interactions, language samples from one child across the first three years and emergent literacy in preschool An expanded section on the acquisition of the sound system helps readers better understand a vital aspect of language development New case studies found throughout the text provide students with real life examples of childhood language disorders Reviewers are saying I was thrilled to find Born to Talk to use as a text for my undergraduate language acquisition course and as a supplement for my graduate early literacy course The book is challenging for students but as scholarly as it is it is also interesting and makes the study of language acquisition come alive for the students
