Jung and his ideas have had at least as much influence on religious studies as have the psychoanalytic theories of his mentor Sigmund Freud Teaching Jung offers a collection of original articles presenting several different approaches to Jung's psychology in relation to religion theology and contemporary culture The contributors describe their teaching of Jung in different academic contexts with special attention to the pedagogical and theoretical challenges that arise in the classroom Many of Jung's key psychological terms archetypes collective unconscious individuation projection synchronicity extroversion and introversion have become standard features of religious studies discourse and his extensive commentaries on various religious traditions make it clear that Jung's psychology is at one level a significant contribution to the study of human religiosity His characterization of depth psychology as a fundamentally religious response to the secularizing power of modernity has left a lasting imprint on the relationship between religious studies and the psychological sciences
