Revising concepts for interfirm collaboration - a case-based approach

Nils Klingemann,2003-05-10 Diploma Thesis from the year 2003 in the subject Computer Science Commercial Information Technology grade 1 3 A European Business School International University Schlo Reichartshausen Oestrich Winkel Information Systems language English abstract The pressure on today s companies to outperform their competitors has been amplified by ever growing customer demands Diversification of products and operations in various markets entail heightened levels of uncertainty and risk in the wake of a pronounced economic downturn Technical advances and strategic reconsiderations in the Business to Business B2B market have led companies to meet such challenges with new forms of collaboration Especially considering its drawbacks the success of Electronic Data Interchange EDI has confirmed the demand for interfirm connectivity Combined current forms of collaboration are limited both in scale and scope as few companies have had the vision and drive to prepare themselves for what is ahead of proprietary one to one exchanges Since 1999 industrial organizations have separately attempted to enable common interfirm trade with the help of online trading platforms and e marketplaces In most industries the use of these platforms has been reduced to low numbers of intra industry transactions between first movers and strategic visionaries Despite their damped optimism companies readiness has progressed along with the market potential Tackling the initial weaknesses an integrative B2B trading network that is based on true interoperability and openness is now well positioned to exploit this increased potential Still collaboration in its current forms may not be sufficient considering the present dominance of customer demands an increasing number of individual solutions must be mass tailored to order At first sight this leaves companies with no choice but to at least neglect if not give up the goals of synergies economies of scale as well as critical mass In reply to this increasingly dynamic and competitive market environment companies may outsource supporting functions and focus on their core competences So far however Western firms have lacked access to the right partners for the required resources allowing only the outsourcing of selected operations or collaboration on projects of limited Similar to e marketplaces outsourcing has so far not only been restricted in both its strategic and operational scope but also repeatedly been employed ineffectively or inappropriately To fully account for the challenges of today s companies and to leverage their dormant potential e marketplaces and outsourcing are to be combined

Big Bang Disruption Larry Downes,Paul Nunes,2014 It used to take years or even decades for disruptive innovations to dethrone dominant products and services But now any business can be devastated virtually overnight by something better and cheaper Software based products are replacing physical goods And every service provider must compete with cloud based tools that offer customers a better way to interact Today start ups with minimal experience and no capital can unravel your strategy before you even begin to grasp what s happening Never mind the innovator s dilemma This is the innovator s disaster And it s happening in nearly every industry The good news is that any business can master the strategy of the start ups In our summary of Big Bang Disruption Strategy in the Age of Devastating Innovation Larry Downes and Paul Nunes identify four key stages of the new innovation life cycle helping you spot potential disruptors in time And they offer twelve rules for defending your markets launching disruptors of your own and gettin out while there s still time Back cover
