Eisner,1996 American Drama Since 1960 Matthew Charles Roudané,1996 In the early 1960s two leaders of the New York performance group Living Theatre were asked to define its purpose In this survey of contemporary American drama Matthew C Roudane argues that the response of these two pioneers in experimental theater Julian Beck and Judith Malina goes a long way toward explaining the purpose of all of the rich and varied dramas to appear on the stage since 1960 To increase conscious awareness to stress the sacredness of life to break down the walls African American playwrights Lorraine Hansberry Alice Childress James Baldwin Amiri Baraka women playwrights Marsha Norman Wendy Wasserstein Beth Henley gay playwrights Harvey Fierstein Tony Kushner and others have over the past three and a half decades entreated audiences to acknowledge the persistence of racism sexism homophobia and a host of other societal ills Other playwrights have asked audiences to confront their own mortality Edward Albee their compromised morality David Mamet their unfulfilled American Dream Arthur Miller Sam Shepard and countless others Whatever the particularities of these playwrights personal identities politics of dramatic style they share a willingness to confront uncomfortable truths about the human condition in America since 1960 Ironically it is in their very rebellion against any number of things American that they identify themselves and their literature as such Roudane takes no scattershot approach to his subject Favoring clusters of themes and the broad sweep of movements to linear chronology he develops a carefully aimed analysis of the work of about two dozen of the hundreds of playwrights whose dramas have since 1960 been performed in every venue from regional and university theaters to Off Off Broadway to Off Broadway to Broadway

Vietnam, We've All Been There Eric J. Schroeder, 1992 Vietnam We've All Been There is a unique collection of interviews with noted American writers who made the Vietnam war a subject of their work The writers represented here were chosen by Dr Schroeder because their books plays poems and reportage are among the best of the particular genre in which each one works Norman Mailer David Rabe and Michael Herr among them Provocative not only for the opinions and memories of the interviewees this book is also interesting for its focus on the variety of literary forms and styles that emerged from the Vietnam experience The author makes the point that the more successful literature to come out of the war was from writers who stretched the limits of particular forms giving birth to narratives that broke all the rules For example where journalism usually demands facts Michael Herr the author of Dispatches insisted on much more He described psychological states assessed personal losses and personified the war in ways that were radically different from accepted reporting As Dr Schroeder reminds us Vietnam deeply affected everyone who lived through it thus there were many cultural effects that still beg for examination and thought He spent nine years gathering these interviews and during that time the war was a constant presence in his life For many Americans even a lifetime may not make it possible to come to terms with the war And while it is important not to forget where we've been it is also important to move forward In this book the writers we hear from like the works they created help us to remember the past with a reflective wisdom that is essential to informing our future
