Wink Travel Wink Travel guide, 2019-03-15. Iceland is a stunningly beautiful place if you enjoy strange and desolate landscapes. The amount of daylight varies dramatically by season. The sun sets briefly each night in June but it doesn't get fully dark before it comes back up again. In the March and September equinoxes, days and nights are of about equal length as elsewhere in the world. If you go in December, it's almost 20 hours of darkness. Summer is definitely the best time to go and even then the tourist traffic is still mild. The midnight sun is a beautiful sight and one definitely not to be missed. It is easy to lose track of time when the sun is still up at 23:00. Early or late winter, however, can be surprisingly good times to visit. In late January, daylight is from about 10:00-17:00. Wink Travel Guides introduce you to the best world travel destinations in a clear and concise way, illustrated by photos. Iceland Phillip H Lebron, 2023-05-13.
