New Technologies and Work Arthur Francis, Peter Grootings, 2018-03-26 Originally published in 1989 this book is a valuable contribution to the development of a non technological approach in the study of technology and work The studies compare the introduction and implementation of new technology at work in similar enterprises throughout Europe The contributors share the basic assumption that the impact of technology varies greatly according to the characteristics of the country and its socioeconomic system They view changes in work as the result of the complex combinations and interactions of such conditions and technology rather than of technology per se and their focus is therefore on the mechanisms and processes which come into play when new technology is being introduced The book's international scope makes it a rich empirical source of comparative material East European Economic Handbook, 1985 Reference book on economic conditions and prospects and economic growth in Eastern Europe covers period 1980-1983 approx reviews economic indicators economic planning population labour force industrial sector industrial growth agricultural development mining energy transport standard of living consumer expenditure housing trade health services education tourism etc discusses regional cooperation regional trade relations and economic relations indebtedness etc Maps statistical tables Information Control Problems in Manufacturing Technology, 1986 A.
