We Need to Talk About Kevin Lionel Shriver, 2011-05-01 The inspiration for the film starring Tilda Swinton and John C Reilly this resonant story of a mother's unsettling quest to understand her teenage son's deadly violence her own ambivalence toward motherhood and the explosive link between them remains terrifyingly prescient Eva never really wanted to be a mother And certainly not the mother of a boy who murdered seven of his fellow high school students a cafeteria worker and a much adored teacher in a school shooting two days before his sixteenth birthday Neither nature nor nurture exclusively shapes a child's character But Eva was always uneasy with the sacrifices and social demotion of motherhood Did her internalized dislike for her own son shape him into the killer he's become How much is her fault Now two years later it is time for her to come to terms with Kevin's horrific rampage all in a series of startlingly direct correspondences with her estranged husband Franklin A piercing unforgettable and penetrating exploration of violence and responsibility a book that the Boston Globe describes as impossible to put down is a stunning examination of how tragedy affects a town a marriage and a family

Postapocalyptic Fiction and the Social Contract Claire P. Curtis, 2010-07-17 Postapocalyptic Fiction and the Social Contract We'll Not Go Home Again provides a framework for our fascination with the apocalyptic events The popular appeal of the end of the world genre is clear in movies novels and television shows Even our political debates over global warming nuclear threats and pandemic disease reflect a concern about the possibility of such events This popular fascination is really a fascination with survival how can we come out alive And what would we do next The end of the world is not about species death but about beginning again This book uses postapocalyptic fiction as a terrain for thinking about the state of nature the hypothetical fiction that is the driving force behind the social contract The first half of the book examines novels that tell the story of the move from the state of nature to civil society through a Hobbesian a Lockean or a Rousseauian lens including Lucifer's Hammer by Larry Niven and Jerry Pournelle Alas Babylon by Pat Frank Malevil by Robert Merle and Into the Forest by Jean Hegland The latter half of the book examines Octavia Butler's postapocalyptic Parable series in which a new kind of social contract emerges one built on the fact of human dependence and vulnerability The Way Things Work Vol. 1, 1967

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1969-09 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world John Ashbery and You John Emil Vincent, 2007 John Ashbery and You approaches Ashbery's critically neglected recent poetry with an ear to his use of the supremely elastic pronoun you and an eye toward his construction of his books as books Together these devices produce effects new to Ashbery's oeuvre and offer readers new ways in to his work John Ashbery and You argues that starting with April Galleons 1987 and reaching an apex in Your Name Here 2000 the poet has been paying increasingly keen and affectionate attention to his readers Vincent tracks these techniques but above all offers his readers tools to reapproach a dauntingly difficult body of work Some critics have suggested that Ashbery is producing books too quickly for criticism to keep up or that the later books represent as Vincent summarizes it a kind of logorrhea and therefore don't really register as separate events as much as episodic eruptions of one big volcano which is the Later Ashbery Vincent contends that critics are not keeping up with Ashbery not so much because it is all of a piece but rather because his work varies so much from volume to volume Each of the volumes from the latter part of Ashbery's career represents an individual and different poetic project depending precisely on the unit of the book to produce its effects By showing us that the entry point to Ashbery is not any given individual poem within a volume but the entire volume Vincent gives us a new and productive approach to reading the recent work of one of our most challenging poets      The Psychology of Science Text Comprehension Jose Otero, Jos, A. León, Arthur C. Graesser, 2014-04-04

 This volume's goal is to provide readers with up to date information on the research and theory of scientific text comprehension. It is widely acknowledged that the comprehension of science and technological artifacts is very difficult for both children and adults. The material is conceptually complex; there is very little background knowledge for most individuals, and the materials are often poorly written. Therefore, it is no surprise that students are turned off from learning science and technology. Given these challenges, it is important to design scientific text in a fashion that fits the cognitive constraints of the learner. The enterprise of textbook design needs to be effectively integrated with research in discourse processing, educational technology, and cognitive science. This book takes a major step in promoting such an integration. This volume provides an important integration of research and theory with theoretical, methodological, and educational applications. It includes a number of chapters that cover how science text information affects mental representations and strategies, introduces important suggestions about how text design and new technologies can be thought of as pedagogical features, and establishes academic text taxonomies and a consensus of the criteria to organize inferences and other mental mechanisms.
