Summary: In "Thanatopsis" by William Cullen Bryant, the speaker presents his view of death. He explains

Lines 1-8 - The first 8 lines explain that for he who appreciates nature, she, nature, makes him happy when he is in a happy mood and comforts him when he feels dark and gloomy.

Lines 8-22 - Speaker advises reader, when you are depressed about dying, listen to nature.

Lines 22-30 - The speaker explains that when we die, we lose our individuality and become a part of the earth. A country boy may walk over us; the roots of an oak tree may "pierce our mold".

Lines 31-45 - These lines talk about lying down in a permanent resting place (nature). You will lie in a majestic place. You won't be alone and it will be beautiful.

Lines 45-57 - These lines suggest that there are more people resting in the earth (dead) than there are alive on the earth.

If you are looking to brush up on your literary knowledge, check a favorite author's work or see a year's bestsellers at a glance. The Chronology of American Literature is the perfect resource. At once an authoritative reference and an ideal browser's guide, this book outlines the indispensable information in America's rich literary past from major publications to lesser known gems while also identifying larger trends along the literary timeline. Who wrote the first published book in America? When did Edgar Allan Poe achieve notoriety as a mystery writer? What was Hemingway's breakout title? With more than 8,000 works by 5,000 authors, The Chronology makes it easy to find answers to these questions and more. Authors and their works are grouped within each year by category: fiction and nonfiction, poems, drama, literary criticism, and publishing events. Short, concise entries describe an author's major works for a particular year while placing them within the larger context of that writer's career. The result is a fascinating glimpse into the evolution of some of America's most prominent writers. Perhaps most important, The Chronology offers an invaluable line through our literary past, tying literature to the American experience: war and peace, boom and bust, and reaction to social change. You'll find everything here, from Benjamin Franklin's Experiments and Observations on Electricity to Davy Crockett's first memoir, from Thoreau's Civil Disobedience to Edith Wharton's Ethan.
