Women's Life Writing Women's Life Writing:

Women's Life-writing Linda S. Coleman, 1997 The essays in this collection offer readers vivid and varied evidence of the female response to recurring attempts by culture to artificially limit identity along the gendered lines of private and public experience Calling on voices both familiar and little known British and American black and white young and old poor and rich heterosexual and lesbian the essayists explore how women within unique personal and historical conditions used life writing as a means of both self understanding and connection to a community of sympathetic others real or imagined The life writings within this anthology span the modern history of the genre itself with writers drawn from as early as the seventeenth century and as late as the 1990s British Women's Life Writing, 1760-1840 A. Culley, 2014-07-22 British Women's Life Writing 1760 1840 brings together for the first time a wide range of print and manuscript sources to demonstrate women's innovative approach to self representation It examines canonical writers such as Mary Wollstonecraft Mary Robinson and Helen Maria Williams amongst others Women's Life Writing and Early Modern Ireland Julie A. Eckerle, Naomi McAreavey, 2019-06-01 Women's Life Writing and Early Modern Ireland provides an original perspective on both new and familiar texts in this first critical collection to focus on seventeenth century women's life writing in a specifically Irish context By shifting the focus away from England even though many of these writers would have identified themselves as English and making Ireland and Irishness the focus of their essays the contributors resituate women's narratives in a powerful and revealing landscape This volume addresses a range of genres from letters to book marginalia and a number of different women from now canonical life writers such as Mary Rich and Ann Fanshawe to far less familiar figures such as Eliza Blennerhassett and the correspondents and supplicants of William King archbishop of Dublin The writings of the Boyle sisters and the Duchess of Ormonde women from the two most important families in seventeenth century Ireland also receive a thorough analysis These innovative and nuanced scholarly considerations of the powerful influence of Ireland on these writers construction of self provide fresh illuminating insights into both their writing and their broader cultural context Women's Life Writing, 1700-1850 D. Cook, A. Culley, 2016-04-13 This collection discusses British and Irish life writings by women in the period 1700 1850 It argues for the importance of women's life writing as part of the culture and practice of eighteenth century and Romantic auto biography exploring the complex relationships between constructions of femininity life writing forms and models of authorship Women's Life Writing in Post-Communist Romania Simona Mitroiu, 2022-11-07 This book analyzes the impact of abusive regimes of power on women's lives and on their self expression through close readings of life writing by women in communist Romania In particular it examines the forms of agency and privacy available to women under totalitarianism and the modes of relationships in which their lives were embedded The self expression and self reflexive processes that are to be found in the body of Romanian women's autobiographical writings this study presents create complex private narratives that underpin the creative development of inclusive memories of the past through shared responsibility and shared agency At the same time however the way these private personal narratives intertwined with collective and official historical narratives exemplifies the multidimensional nature of privacy as well as the radical redefinition of agency in this period This book argues for a broader understanding of the narratives of the communist past one that reflects the complexity of individual and social interactions and allows a deep exploration of the interconnected relations between memory trauma nostalgia agency and privacy British Women's Life Writing, 1760-1840 A. Culley, 2014-07-22 British Women s Life Writing 1760 1840 brings together for the first time a wide range of print and manuscript sources to demonstrate women s innovative approach to self representation It examines canonical writers such as Mary Wollstonecraft Mary Robinson and Helen Maria Williams amongst others Genre and Women's Life Writing in Early Modern England Michelle M. Dowd, Julie A. Eckerle, 2016-04-15 By taking account of the ways in which early modern women made use of formal and generic structures to constitute themselves in writing the essays collected here interrogate the discursive contours of gendered identity in sixteenth and seventeenth century England The contributors explore how generic choice mixture and revision influence narrative constructions of the female self in early modern England Collectively they situate women s life writings within the broader textual culture of early modern England while maintaining a focus on the particular rhetorical devices and narrative structures that comprise individual texts Reconsidering women s life writing in light of recent critical trends most notably historical formalism this volume produces both new readings of early modern texts such as Margaret Cavendish s autobiography and the diary of Anne Clifford and a new understanding of the complex relationships between literary forms and early modern women s selves This volume engages with new critical methods to make innovative connections between canonical and non canonical writing in so doing it helps to shape the future of scholarship on early modern women Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margareta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Writing a Woman's Life Carolyn G. Heilbrun, 1989 Why is it that generations of writers had to describe George Sand as a great man Why did Dorothy L Sayers having created a heroine as independent as herself then marry off Harriet Vane And why did Carolyn Heilbrun resort to the pseudonym of Amanda Cross to write her own detective fiction For Carolyn Heilbrun May Sarton s Journal of a Solitude was a watershed which marked a new way of writing about women s lives Before then traditional biography and autobiography assumed that only one narrative was acceptable for women romantic love leading to conventional marriage This book uses fascinating insights into the lives of unconventional women such as Virginia Woolf and Colette to show how their stories have been distorted by this assumption Romantic women's life writing Susan Civile, 2019-03-14 This book explores how the publication of women s life writing influenced the reputation of its writers and of the genre itself during the long nineteenth century It provides case studies of Frances Burney Mary Wollstonecraft Mary Robinson and Mary Hays four writers whose names were caught up in debates about the moral and literary respectability of publishing the private Focusing on gender genre and authorship this study examines key works of life writing by and about these women and the reception of these texts It argues for the importance of life writing a crucial site of affective and imaginative identification in shaping authorial reputation and afterlife The book ultimately constructs a fuller picture of the literary field in the long nineteenth century and the role of women writers and their life writing within it Genre and

In readings that move from personal diaries and personal letters through autobiography and biography that assumes a public readership and finally to the essay the reader is led through an ever widening audience Starting with pieces that draw entirely on the writer s life to biography requiring research into another person s life the reader moves from subjective to objective experience and finally to the essay that attempts to put that experience into a larger context The selections are followed by Musings which suggest features of the writing that the reader might imitate and recommendations for writing Connections presents ways in which individual pieces might be paired with others to make interesting comparisons and to generate other writing ideas A range of familiar and unfamiliar selections are organized from the subjective to the objective and become increasingly difficult They present a wide range of writing styles to allow readers to become comfortable with many styles In addition these selections represent a variety of cultures and historical periods to give readers an appreciation of other cultures and a sense of history A valuable book for any reader who wishes to improve their writing skills by reading a variety of selections by a range of writers New Forms of Self-Narration Ana Belén Martínez García, 2021-09-05 This book is a timely study of young women's life writing as a form of human rights activism. It focuses on six young women who suffered human rights violations when they were girls and have gone on to become activists through life writing: Malala Yousafzai, Hyeonseo Lee, Yeonmi Park, Bana Alabed, Nujeen Mustafa, and Nadia Murad. Their ongoing life writing projects diverge to some extent but all share several notable features: they claim a testimonial collective voice; they deploy rights discourse; they excite humanitarian emotions; they link up their context-bound plight with bigger social justice causes; and they use English as their vehicle of self-expression and self-construction. This strategic use of English is of vital importance as it has brought them together as icons in the public sphere within the last six years. New Forms of Self-Narration is the first ever attempt to explore all these activists' life writing texts side by side, encompassing both the written and the audiovisual material online and offline, and taking all texts as belonging to a unique single though multifaceted project. New Books on Women and Feminism, 2014 The Unsociable Sociability of Women's Lifewriting A. Collett, L. D'Arcens, 2010-10-27 By investigating women lifewriters' complex quest to distinguish themselves both within and from institutions and communities, this volume uses Kant's concept of unsociable sociability to formulate a divided sense of self at the heart of women's lifewriting, offering a provocative response to the notion of the relational female subject. Lives of Celebrated Women Samuel Griswold Goodrich, 1876 Nineteenth-century Literature Criticism Laurie Lanzen Harris, 1981 Excerpts from criticism of the works of novelists, poets, playwrights, short story writers, and other creative writers who lived between 1800 and 1900, from the first published critical appraisals to current evaluations. The life of Charlotte Brontë, by Mrs. Gaskell; with an introduction and notes by C. K. Shorter Charlotte Brontë, 1914
