Walking a Literary Labyrinth Nancy M. Malone, 2003 Who doesn't have a list of books that changed his or her life? Reflecting on her own reading life, Nancy Malone examines the role that reading plays in defining ourselves. Throughout, she likens the experience of reading to walking a labyrinth itself, a metaphor for our journeys through life. The paths within the labyrinth are not straight but winding, and in the end, it is not the small circle in the center that defines the self but the whole grand design of the labyrinth: every experience, every person we meet, and every book we read that makes us who we are. Malone draws from diverse sources, both spiritual and secular: Augustine, George Herbert, George Eliot, Franz Kafka, Rainer Maria Rilke, Virginia Woolf, Paul Tillich, Elie Wiesel, James Agee, E. E. Cummings, Tom Wolfe, Patrick O'Brien, Nadine Gordimer, Margaret Atwood, and Sue Grafton, to name a few. The author's thoughtful and beautifully articulated analysis of influential books covers a broad range of subjects, including childhood reading, books as sacred objects, reading and social responsibility, dangerous reading that challenges us to examine our prejudices and beliefs, poetry, and erotic literature. The book includes a bibliography to inspire readers to seek out the unfamiliar or return to old favorites. In Walking a Literary Labyrinth, Malone invites readers of all religious traditions or none to consider the influence of reading in their own lives. Walking a

Literary Labrynth Nancy M. Malone, 2004-07-06 Nancy Malone's thoughtful and poignant novel asks us to consider how our identity and our capacity to connect to others is shaped by the literature we read. Who of us doesn't have a list of books that changed our life? Reflecting on her own reading life, Nancy Malone examines the influence of reading in how we define ourselves. Throughout, she likens the experience of reading to walking a labyrinth itself, a metaphor for our spiritual journey through life. The paths within the labyrinth are not straight but winding, and in the end, it is not the small circle in the center that defines the self but the whole grand design of the labyrinth: every experience, every person we meet, and every book we read that makes us who we are. Malone draws from diverse sources, both spiritual and secular: Virginia Woolf, Saint Augustine, E. E. Cummings, Paul Tillich, Nadine Gordimer, George Herbert, Sue Grafton, Henry James, George Eliot, James Joyce, Patrick O'Brien, E. M. Forster, Franz Kafka, Elie Wiesel, Margaret Atwood, and Tom Wolfe, to name a few. Her thoughtful and beautifully articulated examination of influential books takes in a broad range of subjects, including childhood reading, books as sacred objects, reading and social responsibility, dangerous reading which challenges us to examine our prejudices and beliefs, poetry, and erotic literature. And Malone has compiled a recommended reading list to inspire readers to seek out the unfamiliar or return to old favorites. In Walking a Literary Labyrinth, Malone invites all us readers of every religious tradition or none to consider the influence of reading in our own lives: how and why particular books stay with us, how they shape us, and how they enlarge our humanity. Dissident Women, Beguines, and the Quest for Spiritual Authority Catherine

Lambert, 2024-11-12 Dissident Women: Beguines and the Quest for Spiritual Authority focuses on the responses of a group of twenty-first century women to the lives and writings of thirteenth-century beguine mystics and reveals how the struggle to discover their own inner spiritual authority connects two groups of women across centuries For contemporary women who are disenchanted with the institutional church and who seek spiritual direction models deeply rooted within the tradition may not be the most helpful The author explores the value of exemplars from the fringes ushering Hadewijch of Brabant Mechthild of Magdeburg and Marguerite Porete into the spotlight The contemporary women studied developed a relationship with the beguines that transformed and influenced their own journeys Their encounters underline the importance of remembering the beguine mystics the value of contemplative engagement with historical mystics and the need for explicit validation of the richness of the edges of tradition within spiritual direction Dissident Women Beguines and the Quest for Spiritual Authority will be of particular interest to scholars of mysticism and spirituality as well as practical pastoral and feminist theology

Reading as if for Life David Dickinson, 2025-04-24 Creaking open the pages of a heavy hardback or bending the spine of a poetry book over your knee on the train squinting over curled up pages by the light of a candle or scribbling notes in the margins in the corner of a sprawling library There are many who read as if for life many for whom as David Dickinson explores reading does not just feed the mind but also the soul Reading as if for Life takes us beyond the spirituality of sacred texts and into the spiritual possibilities of secular literature the opportunity to find or empty oneself the chance to engage in silent conversation with an absent other the appreciation of beauty and art the possibility of enlightenment From Augustine of Hippo to Thomas Hardy Iris Murdoch the poetry of R S Thomas Duffy and Donne and many other literary works David Dickinson explores how writers throughout the centuries have understood and experienced their own spirituality of reading For Dickinson these myriad journeys all bring us closer to an encounter with God dreaming ourselves into a world beyond This book invites its readers to see reading as a valuable spiritual exercise

Discovering the Art of Soul Friending Carolyn Gratton, 2019-01-28 This friendly accessible book is about the age old hunger in human hearts to open and deepen and grow towards faithful intimacy with the Source of all that is This spiritual journey is radically personal but it is not meant to be entirely solitary It can be supported at crucial times by friendship with someone who has learned how to listen through a life of prayer for the guidance of God's Spirit in their own soul and in the soul of another Long ago in Celtic Christian Ireland such a person was called an anam cara a soul friend Every soul from time to time on its mysterious trek towards union with God needs a human friend for encouragement on the way In Discovering the Art of Soul Friending Carolyn Gratton invites us to say yes to the ability to share with another and to disclose something of oneself on each seeker's journey towards union with God Enriched by a lifetime of insights gained from educating groups around the world she guides aspiring spiritual companions to a discernment of their own level of spiritual maturity sensitivity in the art of spiritual guidance and to a seeker's desires the soil from which their truest love can spring a commitment to prayer and the transformation of consciousness it makes possible rootedness in their own faith tradition and throughout life an openness to the expanded perceptions possible in our multicultural world Carolyn completes each chapter with what she calls a Book
