Jarvis, 1997-08-04 Romantic Writing and Pedestrian Travel is an exploration of the relationship between walking and writing Robin Jarvis here reconstructs the scene of walking both in Britain and on the Continent in the 1790s and analyses the mentality and motives of the early pedestrian traveller He then discusses the impact of this cultural revolution on the creativity of major Romantic writers focusing especially on William and Dorothy Wordsworth Coleridge Clare Keats Hazlitt and Hunt In readings which engage current debates around literature and travel landscape aesthetics ecocriticism the poetics of gender and the materiality of Romantic discourse Jarvis demonstrates how walking became not only a powerful means of self enfranchisement but also the focus of restless textual energies John Keats's Landscapes Luisa Camaïora, 2014-04-03 Romanticism and Time Sophie Laniel-Musitelli, Céline Sabiron, 2021-03-10 Eternity is in love with the productions of time This original edited volume takes William Blake's aphorism as a basis to explore how British Romantic literature creates its own sense of time It considers Romantic poetry as embedded in and reflecting on the march of time regarding it not merely as a reaction to the course of events between the late eighteenth and mid nineteenth centuries but also as a form of creative engagement with history in the making The authors offer a comprehensive overview of the question of time from a literary perspective applying a diverse range of critical approaches to Romantic authors from William Blake and Percy Shelley to John Clare and Samuel Rogers Close readings uncover fresh insights into these authors and their works including Frankenstein the most familiar of Romantic texts Revising current thinking about periodisation the authors explore how the Romantic poetics of time bears witness to the ruptures and dislocations at work within chronological time They consider an array of topics such as ecological time futurity operative time or the temporality of Venice As well as surveying the Romantic canon's evolution over time these essays approach it as a phenomenon unfolding across national borders Romantic authors are compared with American or European counterparts including Beethoven Irving Nietzsche and Beckett Romanticism and Time will be of great value to literary scholars and students working in Romantic Studies It will be of further interest to philosophers and historians working on the connections between philosophy history and literature during the nineteenth century Keats's Places Richard Marggraf Turley, 2018-09-03 As the essays in this volume reveal Keats's places could be comforting familiar grounding sites but they were also shifting uncanny paradoxical spaces where the geographical comes into tension with the familial the touristic with the medical the metropolitan with the archipelagic Collectively the chapters in Keats's Places range from the claustrophobic stands of Guy's Hospital operating theatre to the boneshaking interior of the Southampton mail coach from Highland crags to Hampstead Heath from crowded city interiors to leafy suburban lanes Offering new insights into the complex registrations of place and the poetic imagination the contributors to this book explore how the significant places in John Keats's life helped to shape an authorial identity Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan

Stewart, 2002-01-20 What is the role of the senses in the creation and reception of poetry How does poetry carry on the long tradition of making experience and suffering understood by others With Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan Stewart traces the path of the aesthetic in search of an explanation for the role of poetry in culture Herself an acclaimed poet Stewart not only brings the intelligence of a critic to the question of poetry but the insight of a practitioner as well Her new study includes close discussions of poems by Stevens Hopkins Keats Hardy Bishop and Traherne of the sense of vertigo in Baroque and Romantic works and of the rich tradition of nocturnes in visual musical and verbal art Ultimately she argues that poetry can counter the denigration of the senses in contemporary life and can expand our imagination of the range of human expression Poetry and the Fate of the Senses won the 2004 Truman Capote Award for Literary Criticism in Memory of Newton Arvin administered for the Truman Capote Estate by the University of Iowa Writers Workshop It also won the Phi Beta Kappa Society's 2002 Christian Gauss Award for Literary Criticism Southern Humanities Review, 1994 A Claim
