Katherine M. H. Reischl

Speak Memory Everymans Library:

Speak, Memory Vladimir Nabokov, 1999-03-23 From one of the 20th century's great writers comes one of the finest autobiographies of our time. Speak Memory was first published by Vladimir Nabokov in 1951 as Conclusive Evidence and then assiduously revised and republished in 1966. The Everyman's Library edition includes for the first time the previously unpublished Chapter 16, the most significant unpublished piece of writing by the master newly released by the Nabokov estate which provided an extraordinary insight into Speak Memory. Nabokov's memoir is a moving account of a loving, civilized family of adolescent awakenings' flight from Bolshevik terror, education in England and migr life in Paris and Berlin. The Nabokovs were eccentric liberal aristocrats who lived a life immersed in politics and literature on splendid country estates until their world was swept away by the Russian revolution when the author was eighteen years old. Speak Memory vividly evokes a vanished past in the inimitable prose of Nabokov at his best.

Photographic Literacy Katherine M. H. Reischl, 2018-12-15 Photography introduced to Russia in 1839 was nothing short of a sensation. Its rapid proliferation challenged the other arts including painting and literature as well as the very integrity of the self. If Leo Tolstoy and Fyodor Dostoevsky greeted the camera with skepticism in the nineteenth century, numerous twentieth century authors welcomed it with a warm embrace. As Katherine M. H. Reischl shows in Photographic Literacy, authors as varied as Leonid Andreev, Ilya Ehrenburg and Alexander Solzhenitsyn picked up the camera and reshaped not only their writing practices but also the sphere of literacy itself. For these authors, a single photograph or a photograph as illustration is never an endpoint; their authorial practices continually transform and animate the frozen moment. But just as authors used images to shape the reception of their work and selves, Russian photographers including Sergei Prokudin-Gorsky and Alexander Rodchenko used text to shape the reception of their visual work. From the diary to print the literary word imbues that photographic moment with a personal life story and frames and reframes it in the writing of history. In this primer on photographic literacy, Reischl argues for the central place that photography has played in the formation of the Russian literary imagination over the course of roughly seventy years. From image to text and back again, she traces the visual consciousness of modern Russian literature as captured through the lens of the Russian author-photographer.

Secret Sharers Jennifer Spitzer, 2023-02-21 Secret Sharers traces a genealogy of secret sharing between literary modernism and psychoanalysis, focusing on the productive entanglements and intense competitive rivalries that helped shape Anglo-American modernism as a field. As Jennifer Spitzer reveals, such rivalries played out in explicit criticism, inventive misreadings and revisions of Freudian forms from D. H. Lawrence's re-descriptions of the unconscious to Vladimir Nabokov's parodies of the psychoanalytic case study. While some modernists engaged directly with Freud and Freudian psychoanalysis with unmistakable rivalry and critique, others wrestled in more complex ways with Freud's legacy. The key protagonists of this study, D. H. Lawrence, Virginia Woolf, W. H. Auden and Vladimir Nabokov are noteworthy for the way they engaged with, popularized and revised the terms of Freudian psychoanalysis while also struggling with it as an encroaching discourse Modernists read psychoanalysis misread psychoanalysis and sometimes refused to read it altogether while expressing anxiety about being read by psychoanalysis subjecting themselves and their art to psychoanalytic interpretations As analysts such as Freud Ernest Jones and Alfred Kuttner turned to literature and art to illustrate psychoanalytic theories modernists sought to counter such reductive narratives by envisioning competing formulations of the relationship between literature and psychic life Modernists often expressed ambivalence about the probing symptomatic style of psychoanalytic interpretation and responded with a re doubling of arguments for aesthetic autonomy formal self consciousness and amateurism Secret Sharers reveals how modernists transformed the hermeneutic and diagnostic priorities of psychoanalysis into novel aesthetic strategies and distinctive modes of epistemological and critical engagement In reassessing the historical and intellectual legacies of modernism this book suggests that modernist responses to psychoanalytic criticism anticipate more recent critical debates about the value of symptomatic reading and the hermeneutics of suspicion

Speak, Memory Vladimir Vladimirovich Nabokov,1967 Cover title Authorship in Nabokov's Prefaces Jacqueline Hamrit,2015-01-12 Whereas literary criticism has mainly oscillated between the death of the author Barthes and the return of the author Couturier this work suggests another perspective on authorship through an analysis of Nabokov's prefaces It is here argued that the author being neither dead nor tyrannical alternates between authoritative apparitions and receding disappearances in the double gesture of mastery without mastery which Derrida calls expropriation that is a simultaneous attempt to appropriate one's work control it have it under one's power and expropriate it losing control by loosening one's grip The intention of this is to approach through one's experience of reading and interpreting the experience of self effacement and impersonality pertaining to writing of Blanchot Prefaces are considered to be suitable places for the deconstruction of the classical image of Nabokov's arrogance through the unearthing of his reserve and vulnerability This work provides an account of the mere intuition which therefore does not pretend to be a conclusive and definitive interpretation of another image of Nabokov whose undeniable talent for deception seems in accordance with a need for discretion and secrecy The Nabokovian ,2004 Everyman's Library Ernest Rhys,1910 Les Misérables [Everyman's Library] Victor Hugo,1909 Everyman's Library ,1909
