Post-Hegemonic Regionalism in the Americas Jose Briceno-Ruiz, Isidro Morales, 2017-01-20 Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean has experienced transformations over the last few years After more than a decade of a hegemonic model based solely on free market principles the regional and global transformation that occurred in the first decade of the new millennium modified the way of understanding economic development and the insertion of regional blocs in global affairs Old initiatives have been reconsidered new schemes have emerged and new principles going beyond trade issues have modified the norms and processes of regional economic integration This book reviews these recent transformations to depict and explain the new trends shaping regional blocs and cooperation in the Americas

Human Development and Global Institutions Richard Ponzio, Arunabha Ghosh, 2016-02-05 This book provides a timely and accessible introduction to the foundational ideas associated with the human development school of thought It examines its conceptual evolution during the post colonial era and discusses how various institutions of the UN system have tried to engage with this issue both in terms of intellectual and technical advance and operationally Showing that human development has had a profound impact on shaping the policy agenda and programming priorities of global institutions it argues that human development has helped to preserve the continued vitality of major multilateral development programs funds and agencies It also details how human development faces new risks and threats caused by political economic social and environmental forces which are highlighted in a series of engaging case studies on trade water energy the environment democracy human rights and peacebuilding The book also makes the case for why human development remains relevant in an increasingly globalized world while asking whether global institutions will be able to sustain political and moral support from their member states and powerful non state actors It argues that fresh new perspectives on human development are now urgently needed to fill critical gaps across borders and entire regions A positive forward looking agenda for the future of global governance would have to engage with new issues such as the Sustainable Development Goals energy transitions resource scarcity and expansion of democratic governance within and between nations Redefining the overall nature and specific characteristics of what constitutes human progress in an increasingly integrated and interdependent world this book serves as a primer for scholars and graduate students of international relations and development It is also relevant to scholars of economics political science history sociology and women s studies

International Organizations and Military Affairs Hylke Dijkstra, 2016-02-05 From the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations to the NATO International Staff and the European

External Action Service international bureaucrats make decisions that affect life and death In carrying out their functions these officials not only facilitate the work of the member states but also pursue their own distinct agendas This book analyzes how states seek to control secretariats when it comes to military operations by international organizations It introduces an innovative theoretical framework that identifies different types of control mechanisms The book presents six empirical chapters on the UN NATO and EU secretariats It provides new data from a unique dataset and in depth interviews It shows that member states employ a wide range of control mechanisms to reduce the potential loss of influence They frequently forfeit the gains of delegation to avoid becoming dependent on the work of secretariats Yet while states invest heavily in control this book also argues that they cannot benefit from the services of secretariats and keep full control over outcomes in international organizations In their delegation and control decisions states face trade offs and have to weigh different cost categories the costs of policy administrative capacity and agency loss This book will be of interest to scholars postgraduates and officials in international organizations and national governments dealing with questions of international political economy security studies and military affairs

Spatializing Practices of Regional Organizations during Conflict Intervention Jens Herpolsheimer, 2021-02-28 This book studies relevant actors and practices of conflict intervention by African regional organizations and their intimate connection to space making addressing a major gap regarding what actually happens within and around these organizations Based on extensive empirical research it argues that those intervention practices are essentially spatializing practices based on particular spatial imaginations contributing to the continuous construction and formatting of regional spaces as well as to ordering relations between different regional spaces Analyzing the field of developing practices of conflict intervention by the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and the African Union AU the book contributes a new theory oriented analytical approach to study African regional organizations ROs and the complex dynamics of African peace and security based on insights from Critical Geography As such it helps to close an empirical gap with regard to the internal modes of operation of African ROs as well as the lack of their theorization It demonstrates that contrary to most accounts intervention practices of African ROs have been diverse and complexly interrelated involving different actors within and around these organizations and are essentially tied to the space making This book will be of key interest to students and scholars of African Politics Governance Peace and Security Studies International or Regional Organizations and more broadly to Comparative Regionalism International Relations and International Studies

The Oxford Handbook of Peaceful Change in International Relations T. V. Paul, Deborah Welch Larson, Harold A. Trinkunas, Anders Wivel, Ralf Emmers, 2021 Abstract With the rapid rise of China and the relative decline of the United States the topic of power transition conflicts is back in popular and scholarly attention The discipline of International Relations offers much on why violent power transition conflicts occur yet very few substantive treatments exist on why and how peaceful changes happen in world politics This Handbook is the first comprehensive treatment of the subject of peaceful change in International Relations It contains some 41 chapters all written by scholars from different theoretical and conceptual backgrounds examining the multi faceted dimensions of this subject In the first part key conceptual and definitional clarifications are offered and in the second part papers address the historical origins of peaceful change as an International Relations subject matter during the Inter War Cold War and Post Cold War eras In the third part each of the IR theoretical traditions and paradigms in particular Realism liberalism constructivism and critical perspectives and their distinct views on peaceful change are analyzed In the fourth part papers tackle the key material ideational and social sources of change In the fifth part the papers explore selected great and middle powers and their foreign policy contributions to peaceful change realizing that many of these states have violent past or tend not to pursue peaceful policies consistently In part six the contributors evaluate the peaceful change that occurred in the world s key regions In the final part the editors address prospective research agenda and trajectories on this important subject matter

Governing the Americas Gordon Mace, Jean-Philippe Thérien, Paul Alexander Haslam, 2007 This is a systematic assessment of the functioning of hemispheric institutions since the introduction of the Summit of the Americas process in 1994 The text evaluates the effectiveness of inter American institutions with regard to core issues of democratic governance security trade and economic development

Yearbook of International Organizations 2013-2014 (Volumes 1a-1b) Union Of International Associations, Union of International Associations, 2013-06-21 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events

International Organizations Robert S. Jordan, 2001-06-30 This new edition of a classic text comprehensively revised throughout appraises the emerging challenges to the centrality of the nation state international system such as humanitarianism environmentalism new international legal standards and concepts such as civil society and globalism As inter governmental and international non governmental activities are increasingly being blended for example in the area of peace keeping this poses a challenge to the sanctity of the territorial state as the primary political unit Similarly technological and social changes such as the emergence of the Internet encourages borderless activities both legal and illegal by non state actors This book provides the basis for students to consider a thorough rethinking of our international system and its prospects for the future in the face of these fundamental and unprecedented developments While the book as a whole is built around the unifying theme of the management of cooperation illustrative cases enhance the individual chapters and provide the basis for comparative analysis and discussion These take the reader through the tangled webs of international cooperation in such areas as the European Union NATO humanitarian intervention arms control transnational criminal organizations and global environmental issues Discussion questions at the end of each chapter add to the usefulness of this text for students

OECD Territorial Reviews Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2006 Mesoamerica is a region characterised by high poverty levels large urban rural disparities and a large informal economy but also having a strategic location rich natural and cultural resources and light manufacturing This pioneering study of the OECD examines how Mesoamerica could better exploit its economic potential It shows how the region could improve its competitiveness and social cohesion and strengthen governance through a comprehensive development agenda

Guide to Funding for International and Foreign Programs ,2000     Protest and Collaboration Roberto Patricio Korzeniewicz,2001     Yearbook of International Organizations ,1967     Implementing the Summit of the Americas: Building sustainable development partnerships ,1996

Documentation Politique Internationale ,1951 Has supplements     Sustainable Peace Connie Peck,1998 This book argues that the most sustainable means of promoting peace within states is the development of good governance which can address the root causes of conflict and meet basic human security needs Good governance offers groups a voice in resolving grievances at an early stage before they grow into major problems safeguards human rights and promotes a fairer distribution of resources     Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001     Rule of Law in Latin America Pilar Domingo,Rachel Sieder,2001 This volume analyzes the judicial reform processes funded by international donor organizations in Latin America As billions of dollars are spent on judicial reform it is pertinent to ask about the fate of these projects The authors examine the way in which international organizations rationalize and prioritize their reform proposals and agenda in Latin America how reform agendas are implemented and followed up or not how international donor organizations relate to national governments and civil society and to each other and what factors account for the successes and failures of their reform initiatives The book also addresses the question of the connection between rule of law reform and broader processes of regime consolidation and state building from both a political and a social perspective
