

SMART Goals.

Are you SMART?

Specific

Good goals are clear → and defined. Not too general!

Measurable

You must be able to measure your progress so you know when you've reached your goal!

Action Plan

→ Set up an action plan that tells what you are going to do.

Realistic

→ Make sure your goals
aren't too hard or easy.

Time Limit

→ Think about when you want to accomplish the goal.

Smart Goals Examples 6th Grade Math:

Introduction to School Counseling Jered B. Kolbert, Laura M. Crothers, Tammy L. Hughes, 2022-12-27 This book is a comprehensive introduction to the profession for school counselors in training providing special focus on the topics most relevant to the school counselor's role and offers specific strategies for practical application and implementation. In addition to the thorough coverage of the fourth edition of the ASCA National Model readers will find thoughtful discussions of the effects of trends and legislation including the Every Student Succeeds Act ESSA, multilevel systems of support MTSS and school wide positive behavioral interventions and supports SWPBIS. The text also provides readers with an understanding of how school counselors assume a counseling orientation within the specific context of an educational setting. Each chapter is application oriented with an equal emphasis both on research and on using data to design and improve school counselors functioning in school systems. Complementing this book is the companion website which includes PowerPoints, templates and handouts, annotated website links and video links for students and a test bank and discussion questions for instructors. This book is essential reading for all school counselors in training as it provides a comprehensive look at the profession and explores topics that are most relevant to the role of school counselor.

The Focus Model B.R. Jones, 2014-07-28 With school improvement initiatives quality trumps quantity every time. Today a vast array of techniques, plans and initiatives purport to improve student performance. But a shotgun approach trying many strategies at once without the deep focus they need to succeed always falls short. The Focus Model solves this growing problem with a method for carefully implementing research informed initiatives proven to work and getting the most out of them. Detailing From Standards to Learning Intentions Defining with clarity the skills your students most need now. Criteria for Success Defining with clarity what it will mean for students to have mastered skills. Critical formative analysis of students. Taking formative assessment to a systemic level of implementation. Impact Professional Learning Communities I PLCs Collaborating with colleagues so that the focus is learning for both students and the adults. With The Focus Model your school and system will benefit from the truth that less is more in planning for improvement. Here's a first synthesis of today's best suggestions about how we can make school improvement a reality instead of a hope. A seasoned perceptive author has assembled an excellent collection of school improvement tactics that are demonstrable winners. W. James Popham Emeritus Professor UCLA If the US implements the Common Core Curriculum it will require a constructive alignment between the standards the teaching and the assessment. Jones highlights these latter two critical parts of schooling in a way that not only makes the alignment constructive but he increases the probability of acceleration in student learning. John Hattie Director Melbourne Education Research Institute Victoria Australia.

Building Shared Responsibility for Student Learning Anne Conzemius, Jan O'Neill, 2001 Who is responsible for student learning. Walk into an effective school and ask this question of anyone a teacher a student the principal a parent volunteer a secretary and you'll get the same answer I am. Shared responsibility is something school communities build from within It's what happens when all school people accept that what they do makes a difference in how all students learn when they have the knowledge they need to make informed decisions about the best way to promote learning and when they have the skills and opportunities to translate their ideas into effective action Anne Conzemius and Jan O'Neill present a practical framework for building shared responsibility within schools and school systems They identify three critical components Focus The common vision mission values and expectations that provide clarity and lead to new levels of performance Reflection The commitment to test assumptions learn from data and adjust practices accordingly Collaboration The process of developing relationships where all work toward the same objectives and rely on each other to achieve their goals Building shared responsibility for student learning is an ongoing activity a journey and not a destination This research based resource provides a map in the form of effective structures systems processes and policies It explains how to set powerful goals and shares inspiring stories of educators who have embarked on this journey toward higher professional competency increased staff satisfaction rising test scores and improved student results From Mandate to Achievement Elaine Makas,2009-09-14 Based on a five step model this guide helps school leaders establish the processes necessary to align curriculum to mandated standards develop curriculum maps and systematize instructional practices
