Without Sanctuary Lynching Photography In America:

Without Sanctuary James Allen, 2000      Without Sanctuary James Allen, 2000 Frequently reissued with the same ISBN but with slightly differing bibliographical details      Without Sanctuary ,2011      Without Sanctuary Nia Woods Haydel, 2007 The social purpose of American higher education is a question that has frequently surfaced The Atlanta showing of the Without Sanctuary Lynching Photography In America Exhibit provided a unique opportunity for an institution of higher education a government agency and private citizens to collaborate on a reconciliatory project related to the social justice issue of lynching The role of higher education has varied over the course of history but the foundation for this study was laid when higher education institutions first developed an interconnectedness with the communities in which they resided with higher education serving in a key capacity in the development and training of community leaders This case study was designed to examine how Emory University a private prestigious Southern research university collaborated with external entities to provide educational opportunities for members of the Atlanta community to engage in discourse related to the lynchings that occurred in the United States from the 1870s to the 1960s The case study method allowed for the exploration of complex social conditions from multidimensional perspectives Interviews of individuals involved with the Exhibit and Emory University as well as document analysis were used to investigate the problem The partnership was examined through a social justice framework allowing for a full examination of the process and the outcome of the partnership in relation to the treatment of the subject matter As a result of this study a greater understanding of the role institutions of higher education can have in reconciliatory acts related to racial oppression and social injustice is provided      Imagery of Lynching Dora Apel, 2004 Outside of the classroom and scholarly publications lynching has long been a taboo subject Nice people it is felt do not talk about it and they certainly do not look at images representing the atrocity In Imagery of Lynching Dora Apel contests this adopted stance of ignorance Through a careful and compelling analysis of over one hundred representations of lynching she shows how the visual documentation of such crimes can be a central vehicle for both constructing and challenging racial hierarchies She examines how lynching was often orchestrated explicitly for the camera and how these images circulated on postcards but also how they eventually were appropriated by antilynching forces and artists from the 1930s to the present She further investigates how photographs were used to construct ideologies of whiteness and blackness the role that gender played in these visual representations and how interracial desire became part of the imagery Offering the fullest and most systematic discussion of the depiction of lynching in diverse visual forms this book addresses questions about race class gender and dissent in the shaping of American society Although we may want to avert our gaze Apel holds it with her sophisticated interpretations of traumatic images and the uses to which they have been put      Landscapes Interrupted ,2009 Current discourse on lynching photography often centers on ideas of spectacle race death victimization and masculinity While these studies are significant they tend to revolve around the bodily imagery and do not address the individual material object forms or physical settings By examining the cards published in the widely referenced source on lynching photography Without Sanctuary Lynching Photography in America this thesis considers lynching postcards as landscape This study contributes to discourses that destabilize traditional interpretations of landscape by considering the human presence the iconographical forms of the natural and built environments the inscriptions and the unique role of the postcard format as spatial practice Through an analysis of the visual elements and social activity of exchange I posit that lynching postcards are complex landscapes vested in the construction and disjunction of place Accordingly lynching photography and landscape photography are positioned as interrelated genres However this thesis warns against simply reclassifying lynching postcards as landscape photography Because of the dominant conventions associated with landscape photography the social practices of lynching postcards would most likely be overlooked Instead this project calls for an expansive theory of landscape which accounts for both visual and performative processes Imprisoned in a Luminous

Glare Leigh Raiford, 2011-02-10 In Imprisoned in a Luminous Glare Leigh Raiford argues that over the past one hundred years activists in the black freedom struggle have used photographic imagery both to gain political recognition and to develop a different visual vocabulary about black lives Offering readings of the use of photography in the anti lynching movement the civil rights movement and the black power movement Imprisoned in a Luminous Glare focuses on key transformations in technology society and politics to understand the evolution of photography s deployment in capturing white oppression black resistance and African American life Lynching Ersula J. Ore, 2019-03-12 Winner of the 2020 Rhetoric Society of America Book Award While victims of antebellum lynchings were typically white men postbellum lynchings became more frequent and more intense with the victims more often black After Reconstruction lynchings exhibited and embodied links between violent collective action American civic identity and the making of the nation Ersula J Ore investigates lynching as a racialized practice of civic engagement in effect an argument against black inclusion within the changing nation Ore scrutinizes the civic roots of lynching the relationship between lynching and white constitutionalism and contemporary manifestations of lynching discourse and logic today From the 1880s onward lynchings she finds manifested a violent form of symbolic action that called a national public into existence denoted citizenship and upheld political community Grounded in Ida B Wells s summation of lynching as a social contract among whites to maintain a racial order at its core Ore s book speaks to racialized violence as a mode of civic engagement Since violence enacts an argument about citizenship Ore construes lynching and its expressions as part and parcel of America s rhetorical tradition and political legacy Drawing upon newspapers official records and memoirs as well as critical race theory Ore outlines the connections between what was said and written the material practices of lynching in the past and the forms these rhetorics and practices assume now In doing so she demonstrates how lynching functioned as a strategy interwoven with the formation of America s national identity and with the nation s need to continually restrict and redefine that identity In addition Ore ties black resistance to lynching the acclaimed exhibit Without Sanctuary recent police brutality effigies of Barack Obama and the killing of Trayvon Martin      Teaching Race in the 21st Century L. Guerrero,2016-04-16 This collection brings together pedagogical memoirs on significant topics regarding teaching race in college including student resistance whiteness professor identity and curricula Linking theory to practice the essays create an accessible and useful way to look at teaching race for wide audiences interested in issues within education      Museums and Photography Elena Stylianou,Theopisti Stylianou-Lambert,2016-12-08 Museums and Photography combines a strong theoretical approach with international case studies to investigate the display of death in various types of museums history anthropology art ethnographic and science museums and to understand the changing role of photography in museums Contributors explore the politics and poetics of displaying death and more specifically the role of photography in representing and interpreting this difficult topic Working with nearly 20 researchers from different cultural backgrounds and disciplines the editors critically engage the recent debate on the changing role of museums exhibition meaning making and the nature of photography They offer new ways for understanding representational practices in relation to contemporary visual culture This book will appeal to researchers and museum professionals inspiring new thinking about death and the role of photography in making sense of it      Violence and Public Memory Martin Blatt,2023-06-23 Violence and Public Memory assesses the relationship between these two subjects by examining their interconnections in varied case studies across the United States South America Europe the Middle East and Africa Those responsible for the violence discussed in this volume are varied and the political ideologies and structures range from apartheid to fascism to homophobia to military dictatorships but also democracy Racism and state terrorism have played central roles in many of the case studies examined in this book and multiple chapters also engage with the recent rise of the Black Lives Matter movement The sites and history represented in this volume address a range of issues including mass displacement genocide political repression forced disappearances massacres and slavery Across the world there are preserved historic sites memorials and museums that mark places of significant violence and human rights abuse which organizations and activists have specifically worked to preserve and provide a place to face history and its continuing legacy today and chapters across this volume directly engage with the questions and issues that surround these sometimes controversial sites Including photographs of many of the sites and events covered across the volume this is an important book for readers interested in the complex and often difficult history of the relationship between violence and the way it is publicly remembered      Lynching and the American Past Lisa Ann Arellano,2004      Lynching Photographs Dora Apel,Shawn Michelle Smith,2007 A lucid smart engaging and accessible introduction to the impact of lynching photography on the history of race and violence in America Grace Elizabeth Hale author of Making Whiteness The Culture of Segregation in America 1890 1940 With admirable courage Dora Apel and Shawn Michelle Smith examine lynching photographs that are horrifying shameful and elusive with admirable sensitivity they help us delve into the meaning and legacy of these difficult images They show us how the images change when viewed from different perspectives they reveal how the photographs have continued to affect popular culture and political debates and they delineate how the pictures produce a dialectic of shame and atonement Ashraf H A Rushdy author of Neo Slave Narratives and Remembering Generations This thoughtful and engaging book offers a highly accessible yet theoretically sophisticated discussion of a painful complicated and unavoidable subject Apel and Smith employing complementary and sometimes overlapping methodological approaches to reading these images impress upon us how inextricable photography and lynching are and how we cannot comprehend lynching without making sense of its photographic representations Leigh Raiford co editor of The Civil Rights Movement in American Memory Our newspapers have recently been filled with photographs of mutilated tortured bodies from both war fronts and domestic arenas How do we understand such photographs Why do people take them Why do we look at them The two essays by Apel and Smith address photographs of lynching but their analysis can be applied to a broader spectrum of images presenting ritual or spectacle killings Frances Pohl author of Framing America A Social History of American Art Justice in Mississippi Howard Ball,2006 The compelling real life story of the criminal investigation indictment and trial of Edgar Ray Killen the preacher and former Ku Klux Klansman finally convicted in June 2005 for the deaths of three civil rights workers forty one years after their brutal murders A stunning final chapter to the case immortalized in the movie Mississippi Burning Shhh...big Momma and Dem' Left Last Night Doria Dee Johnson,2009 The Mississippi Quarterly ,2002 City Politics Dennis R.
