The Core Leigh A. Bortins, 2010-06-08 In the past correct spelling the multiplication tables the names of the state capitals and the American presidents were basics that all children were taught in school Today many children graduate without this essential knowledge Most curricula today follow a haphazard sampling of topics with a focus on political correctness instead of teaching students how to study Leigh Bortins a leading figure in the homeschooling community is having none of it She believes that there are core areas of knowledge that are essential to master Without knowing the multiplication tables children can't advance to algebra Without mastery of grammar students will have difficulty expressing themselves Without these essential building blocks of knowledge students may remember information but they will never possess a broad and deep understanding of how the world works In The Core Bortins gives parents the tools and methodology to implement a rigorous thorough and broad curriculum based on the classical model including Rote memorization to cement knowledge Systematic learning of geography historical facts and timelines Reading the great books and seminal historical documents instead of adaptations and abridged editions Rigorous training in math and the natural sciences

Making Problems, Creating Solutions Jill Ostrow, 1999. In Making Problems, Creating Solutions, Jill Ostrow rethinks the teaching of mathematics and shows teachers how to build challenging learning environments in elementary classrooms. She introduces the notion of workshop learning in mathematics and demonstrates ways in which teachers can readily integrate math into all curricular areas. Traditional mathematics instruction consists of statements of rules followed by examples which define those rules: the tell-show-and-do model. Under this model, math concepts are fed to students in a sequence determined by the teacher rather than the intellectual readiness of the child. Alternatively, Jill takes a process approach to mathematics acquisition that is based upon understanding, challenge, independence, confidence, and choice. Such an approach makes it easier for kids to apply their knowledge to new problems and to other areas of their lives. Making Problems, Creating Solutions gives educators a chance to see the NCTM Standards as well as many other mathematics curricula put into authentic practice, provides examples of solutions and thinking strategies of students ages 6 to 12, describes a new and innovative approach to teaching, and contains a large section on assessment features an extensive appendix of problems with each problem annotated to show which standard is being addressed This book shows teachers how to encourage kids to create problem solving strategies and then to share and discuss those strategies with peers It is an appropriate text for both preservice and inservice programs as well as math inservice workshops In Making Problems Creating Solutions Jill places meaning and purpose at the heart of her mathematics program and in turn gives teachers ideas and techniques that will inspire critical thinking in young mathematicians

Proceedings American Society for Engineering Education. Conference,1992 Intermediate Algebra Tom Carson,Ellyn Gillespie,Bill E. Jordan,2005 Intermediate Algebra is a book for the student The authors goal is to help build students confidence their understanding and appreciation of math and their basic skills by presenting an extremely user friendly text that models a framework in which students can succeed Unfortunately students who place into developmental math courses often struggle with math anxiety due to bad experiences in past math courses Developmental students often have never developed nor applied a study system in mathematics To address these needs the authors have framed three goals for Intermediate Algebra 1 reduce math anxiety 2 teach for understanding and 3 foster critical thinking and enthusiasm The authors writing style is extremely student friendly They talk to students in their own language and walk them through the concepts explaining not only how to do the math but also why it works and where it comes from rather than using the monkey see monkey do approach that some books take Math 2, Units 0-12 C P M Educational Program,2002
