Working With Multimodality Rethinking Literacy In A Digital Age:

Working with Multimodality Jennifer Rowsell,2013 In today's digital world we have multiple modes of meaning making sounds images hypertexts Yet within literacy education even new literacies we know relatively little about how to work with and produce modally complex texts In Working with Multimodality Jennifer Rowsell focuses on eight modes words images sounds movement animation hypertext design and modal learning Throughout the book each mode is illustrated by cases studies based on the author's interviews with thirty people who have extensive experience working with a mode in their field From a song writer to a well known ballet dancer these people all discuss what it means to do multimodality well This accessible textbook brings the multiple modes together into an integrated theory of multimodality Step by step beginning with theory then exploring modes and how to work with them before concluding with how to apply this in an investigation each stage of working with multimodality is covered Working with Multimodality will help students and scholars to Think about specific modes and how they function Consider the implications for multimodal meaning making Become familiar with conventions and folk knowledge about given modes Apply this same knowledge to their own production of media texts in classrooms Assuming no prior knowledge about multimodality and its properties Working with Multimodality is designed to appeal to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students interested in how learning and innovation is different in a digital and media age and is an essential textbook for courses in literacy new media and multimodality within applied linguistics education and communication studies

Multimodality and Multilingualism Steph Ainsworth,Dominic Griffiths,Gee Macrory,Kate Pahl,2023-03-01 This book explores the ways in which multimodality and multilingualism as areas of study intersect and provides empirical examples of how this looks in practice from a wide range of settings The chapters include visual as well as linguistic descriptions of practice and provide an accessible introduction to multimodality and multilingualism for a readership from undergraduate students to researchers The book argues that the everyday practices of multilingual communities are multimodal in nature and that by working at the intersection of multilingualism and multimodality we may be able to make fruitful advances in multiple areas of applied linguistics and properly appreciate the actual human complexities of communication

Multimodal

Poetics in Contemporary Fiction Thomas Mantzaris,2024-10-24 This book explores the growing body of multimodal literary texts books that creatively experiment with the potential of design to represent narrative content Examining five North and Central American novels from the first two decades of the twenty first century this study draws attention to texts that combine verbal text writing with non verbal elements photographic images varied typography maps color etc as integral parts of their narratives Their experimentation both reconfigures the potential for print based and born digital fiction in the future and holds a mirror to past practices of design and typography that were rendered invisible or which received limited attention by authors publishers and readers By placing the five case studies and related texts within a broader history of experimentation in literature this book demonstrates how multimodal novels have changed the conceptualization of narrative content in literary texts and ushered in a new era for fiction

Integrating Virtual and Traditional Learning in 6-12 Classrooms

Sandra Schamroth Abrams,2014-09-19 Integrating Virtual and Traditional Learning in 6-12 Classrooms introduces a model of layered literacies as a framework for describing and illustrating how students digital experiences can inform educational methods Through the lens of layered literacies educators can envision opportunities to draw upon adolescents out of school interests and activities to meaningfully integrate digital practices within academic contexts Such an approach facilitates innovative teaching inspired learning and successful pedagogy and it thoughtfully highlights the role of technology within mandated standards based instruction in public schools Combining foundational and contemporary theories supported by data from multiple studies of adolescent learning and honoring teachers and students experiences and resources this text helps educators reconceptualize the ways students learn through and with digital texts and negotiate the connection between online and offline spaces A companion website extends the discussion onto the screen engaging readers in an intertextual approach to learning that complements the concept of layering literacies across disciplines With a foreword by Jennifer Rowsell and an afterword by Bill Cope and Mary Kalantzis it will be of interest to experienced educators and administrators as well as postgraduate graduate and undergraduate students of education

Linguistically Diverse Immigrant and Resident Writers Christina Ortmeier-Hooper,Todd Ruecker,2016-07-15 Spotlighting the challenges and realities faced by linguistically diverse immigrant and resident students in U S secondary schools and in their transitions from high school to community colleges and universities this book looks at programs interventions and other factors that help or hinder them as they make this move Chapters from teachers and scholars working in a variety of contexts build rich understandings of how high school literacy contexts policies such as the proposed DREAM Act and the Common Core State Standards bridge programs like Upward Bound and curricula redesign in first year college composition courses designed to recognize increasing linguistic diversity of student populations affect the success of this growing population of students as they move from high school into higher education     Cultivating Ecologies for Digital Media Work Catherine C Braun,2014

Rethinking Learning for a Digital Age Rhona Sharpe,Helen Beetham,Sara de Freitas,2010-07-02 Rethinking Learning for a Digital Age addresses the complex and diverse experiences of learners in a world embedded with digital technologies The text combines first hand accounts from learners with extensive research and analysis including a developmental model for effective e learning and a wide range of strategies that digitally connected learners are using to fit learning into their lives A companion to Rethinking Pedagogy for a Digital Age 2007 this book focuses on how learners experiences of learning are changing and raises important challenges to the educational status quo Rethinking Learning for a Digital Age moves beyond stereotypes of the net generation to explore the diversity of e learning experiences today analyses learners experiences holistically across the many technologies and learning opportunities they encounter reveals digital age learners as creative actors and networkers in their own right who make strategic choices about their use of digital applications and learning approaches Today s learners are active participants in their learning experiences and are shaping their own educational environments Professors learning practitioners researchers and policy makers will find Rethinking Learning for a Digital Age invaluable for understanding the learning experience and shaping their own responses Lingua Fracta Collin Gifford Brooke,2009 This book begins from the assumption that there is an intrinsically technological dimension to rhetoric arguing that we have become so accustomed to practicing rhetoric in the context of print technologies that we have often naturalized or ignored that dimension New communication and information technologies do not simply provide us with new sites of rhetorical practice instead they challenge us to reconceive rhetoric altogether This groundbreaking volume argues that a rhetoric of new media should attend to ecologies of practice treating interfaced rather than texts as our sites and units of analysis To devise such a rhetoric the book offers a systematic reconsideration of the canons of classical rhetoric Rather than understanding the canons as stages in a linear composing process this book describes the canons as repertoires of multiple practices that shift as we move among media Drawing on examples that range from Wikipedia to World of Warcraft the book reconstitutes the canons restoring to them the vitality they held for ancient rhetoricians and reshaping them into a framework for understanding the technological developments facing future generations Multimodal Literacies Across

Digital Learning Contexts Maria Grazia Sindoni,Ilaria Moschini,2021-11-29 This collection critically considers the question of how learning and teaching should be conceived understood and approached in light of the changing nature of learning scenarios and new pedagogies in this current age of multimodal digital texts practices and communities The book takes the concept of digital artifacts as being composed of multiple meaning making semiotic resources such as visuals music and design as its point of departure to explore how diverse communities interact with these tools and develop and explore their understanding of digital practices in learning contexts The first section of the volume examines different case studies in which involved participants learn to grapple with the introduction of digital tools for learning in children s early years of schooling The second section extends the focus to secondary and higher education settings as digital learning tools grow more complex as do students parents and teachers interactions with them and the subsequent need for new pedagogies to rethink these multimodal artifacts A final section reflects on the implications of new multimodal tools technologies and pedagogies for teachers such as on teacher training and community building among educators In its in depth look at multimodal approaches to learning as meaning making in a digital world this book will be of interest to students and scholars in multimodality English language teaching digital communication and education
