The Ebola Outbreak in West Africa Chernoh Alpha M. Bah,2015 In The Ebola Outbreak in West Africa the award winning Sierra Leonean journalist political activist and human rights advocate Chernoh Alpha M Bah presents an in depth investigation that challenges the official narrative surrounding the origin and widespread transmission of the 2014 West African Ebola epidemic one of the most catastrophic human tragedies in the twenty first century Bah demonstrates with hard evidence that the western narrative which rashly pinned the origin of the epidemic on a two year old boy in a small Guinean village and implicated the backwardness of Africans as the cause for the widespread nature of the outbreak was neither corroborated nor challenged by Western journalists and the Western academic establishment He explores why at the initial stages of the outbreak when thousands of men women and children were dying Western media had already settled upon a narrative that blamed and criminalized the victims for the epidemic s explosion In this groundbreaking text Bah establishes the West African outbreak as the continuation of a colonial legacy of multinational corporate exploitation political corruption and western dehumanization of the African Glaringly absent from the official narrative he argues is how the billions of dollars of foreign corporate investments existing in West Africa s natural resource exploitation and the strategic international military and governmental intelligence interests in the region including billion dollar animal testing and deadly pathogen laboratory projects served as the foundations for the outbreak It is only from within this global context that the conditions of the outbreak and its widespread devastation can be properly understood Bah s Ebola Outbreak in West Africa illustrates and illuminates the Ebola crises in new and terrifying ways It is the first indigenous account that presents a holistic and independent investigation into one of the worst human tragedies in recent history

Understanding West Africas Ebola Epidemic Ibrahim Abdullah,Ismail Rashid,2017-10-15 From 2013 to 2015 over 11 000 people across West Africa lost their lives to the deadliest outbreak of the Ebola virus in history Crucially this epidemic marked the first time the virus was able to spread beyond rural areas to major cities overturning conventional assumptions about its epidemiology With backgrounds ranging from development to disease control the contributors to this volume some of them based in countries affected by the Ebola epidemic consider the underlying factors that shaped this unprecedented outbreak While championing the heroic efforts of local communities and aid workers in halting the spread of the disease the contributors also reveal deep structural problems in both the countries and humanitarian agencies involved which hampered the efforts to contain the epidemic Alarmingingly they show that little has been learned from these events with health provision remaining underfunded and poorly equipped to deal with future outbreaks Such issues they argue reflect the wider challenges we face in tackling epidemic disease in an increasingly interconnected world

War on All Fronts

Nicholas G. Evans,2023-05-16 An argument for the centrality of rights in health security and how to apply ethical principles to protecting those rights during public health crises In recent years efforts to respond to infectious diseases have been described in terms of national and global security leading to the formation of the field of health security In War on All Fronts Nicholas G Evans provides a novel theory of just health security and its relation to the practice of conventional public health Using COVID 19 as a jumping off point to examine wider issues including how the US thinks about and prepares for pandemics Evans shows the flaws in using the war metaphor and how any serious understanding of health security must square with human rights even when a disease poses a threat to national security Evans asks what ethical principles justify declaring and taking action during a public health emergency such as the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic The relevant principles he argues parallel those of the ethics of armed conflict Just war theory properly understood begins with pacifism and a commitment to the right not to be killed and then steps back to ask under what limited conditions it is permissible to kill In a similar way a just health security must also begin with the idea that public health should hold human rights sacrosanct and then ask under what limited conditions other concerns might prevail Evans s overall goal is to formulate a guide to action particularly as the world deals with the fallout of the COVID 19 pandemic Turning to the transition from war back to peace in public health he looks at reparation rebuilding and the accountability of actors during the crisis undergraduate students majoring in biology microbiology medical technology or pre med Neocolonialism in West Africa Chernoh Alpha M. Bah,2016 Neocolonialism in West Africa addresses fundamental questions around multinationals and modern imperialist exploitation of West Africa s vast mineral and energy resources It explains how capitalist corporations and western nations have been able to control the economy and resources of West Africa Democracy Betrayed Chernoh Alpha M. Bah,2025-06-23 Democracy Betrayed Corruption Dictatorship and Authoritarianism in Sierra Leone examines the root causes of electoral violence and political instability in Africa today The book explores the nexus between state criminality political violence and the crisis of exploitative development in West Africa Using Sierra Leone s post war political environment as a case study the book shows how electoral systems are operationalized to create and consolidate authoritarian regimes in Africa that serve the economic and geopolitical interests of international capital and local political elites Is there any possibility for free and fair elections in Africa under the current dispensation How do Africans deal with the many electoral authoritarian regimes that have come to power in their various countries The answers to these questions constitute the core of this book Thus Democracy Betrayed provides a theoretical and empirical diagnosis of the pitfalls of neoliberal democracy in Africa bringing to the forefront the dangerous complicity of international actors multinational corporations development agencies and international finance in shaping political landscapes in favor and defense of electoral authoritarian methods when they are actually unleashed in political contests The Politics of Fear Michiel

Hofman,Sokhieng Au,2017-01-05 The Politics of Fear is M decins sans Fronti res s commissioned analysis of the politics surrounding the 2014 Ebola epidemic and response Comprising eleven topic based chapters and four eyewitness vignettes from contributors inside and outside MSF all of whom have been given access to MSF Ebola archives from Guinea Sierra Leone and Liberia for research it aims to provide a politically agnostic account of the defining health event of the 21st century so far a resource that will inform current opinions and foster effectual cooperative response to the future epidemics

The International Politics of Ebola Anne Roemer-Mahler,Simon Rushton,2018-10-11 The outbreak of Ebola virus disease that gripped Liberia Guinea and Sierra Leone through much of 2014 and 2015 was undoubtedly a health emergency yet it was also a global political event This book examines the international politics of the Ebola outbreak in all of its dimensions critically assessing the global response examining what the outbreak can tell us about contemporary global health governance and examining the inequalities and injustices that were laid bare In doing so the book shows how some of the concepts debates and findings from the growing field of global health research in International Relations can help both in furthering understanding of the Ebola crisis and also in improving policy responses to future infectious disease outbreaks This book was originally published as a special edition of Third World Quarterly Fevers, Feuds, and Diamonds Paul Farmer,2020-11-17 Paul Farmer brings his considerable intellect empathy and expertise to bear in this powerful and deeply researched account of the Ebola outbreak that struck West Africa in 2014 It is hard to imagine a more timely or important book Bill and Melinda Gates The history is as powerfully conveyed as it is tragic Illuminating Invaluable Steven Johnson The New York Times Book Review In 2014 Sierra Leone Liberia and Guinea suffered the worst epidemic of Ebola in history The brutal virus spread rapidly through a clinical desert where basic health care facilities were few and far between Causing severe loss of life and economic disruption the Ebola crisis was a major tragedy of modern medicine But why did it happen and what can we learn from it Paul Farmer the internationally renowned doctor and anthropologist experienced the Ebola outbreak firsthand Partners in Health the organization he founded was among the international responders In Fevers Feuds and Diamonds he offers the first substantive account of this frightening fast moving episode and its implications In vibrant prose Farmer tells the harrowing stories of Ebola victims while showing why the medical response was slow and insufficient Rebutting misleading claims about the origins of Ebola and why it spread so rapidly he traces West Africa's chronic health failures back to centuries of exploitation and injustice Under formal colonial rule disease containment was a priority but care was not and the region's health care woes worsened with devastating consequences that Farmer traces up to the present This thorough and hopeful narrative is a definitive work of reportage history and advocacy and a crucial intervention in public health discussions around the world

Outbreak Culture Pardis Sabeti, Lara Salahi, 2021-09-01 A Choice Outstanding Academic Title of the Year A critical, poignant postmortem of the epidemic Washington Post Forceful and instructive Sabeti and Salahi uncover competition, sabotage, fear, blame, and disorganization bordering on chaos features that are seen in just about any lethal epidemic Paul Farmer cofounder of Partners in Health The central theme of the book is that common threads of dysfunction run through responses to epidemics The power of Outbreak Culture is its universality Nature

Sabeti and Salahi present a wealth of evidence supporting the imperative that outbreak response must operate in a coordinated real time manner. As we saw with the Ebola outbreak and the disastrous early handling of the COVID 19 coronavirus pandemic, a lack of preparedness, delays and system wide problems with the distribution of critical medical supplies can have deadly consequences. Yet after every outbreak, the systems put in place to coordinate emergency responses are generally dismantled. One of America's top biomedical researchers, Dr. Pardis Sabeti and her Pulitzer Prize winning collaborator, Lara Salahi, argue that these problems are built into the ecosystem of our emergency responses. With an understanding of the path of disease and insight into political psychology, they show how secrecy, competition and poor coordination plague nearly every major public health crisis and reveal how much more could be done to safeguard the well-being of caregivers, patients and vulnerable communities. A work of fearless integrity and unassailable authority, Outbreak Culture seeks to ensure that we make some urgently needed changes before the next pandemic.

Ebola's Message

Nicholas G. Evans, Tara C. Smith, Maimuna S. Majumder, 2024-11-26. Interdisciplinary perspectives on the science, politics and ethics of the 2013–2015 Ebola virus disease outbreak. The 2013–2015 outbreak of the Ebola virus disease (EVD) was a public health disaster, with 28,575 infections and 11,313 deaths as of October 2015, devastating the countries of Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone. A slow and mismanaged international response and sensationalistic media coverage seized upon by politicians to justify wrongheaded policy. And yet there were also promising developments that may improve future responses to infectious disease epidemics: the UN Security Council's first involvement in a public health event, a series of promising clinical treatments and vaccines for EVD, and recognition of the need for a global public health system to deal with epidemics that cross national borders. This volume offers a range of perspectives on these and other lessons learned, with essays on the science, politics and ethics of the Ebola outbreak. The contributors discuss topics including the virology and management of EVD in both rich and poor nations, the spread of the disease with an essay by a leader of Médecins Sans Frontières, racist perceptions of West Africa, mainstream and social media responses to Ebola, and the ethical issue of whether to run clinical trials of experimental treatments during an outbreak. ### The Ebola Outbreak in West Africa

Constantine N. Nana, PhD, 2016-09-09. The Zaire Ebola virus appeared out of nowhere and then disappeared into thin air after killing scores of humans in West Africa. In The Ebola Outbreak in West Africa, author Constantine N. Nana attempts to better understand the outbreak and answer the question: why? Through meticulous research, combing through misleading media reports and equivocal academic papers, Nana takes a close look at the chain of events. He raises a series of questions: Why were there Ebola experts in the region shortly before the outbreak? Why did the Sierra Leonean government order a research institution to stop Ebola testing during the outbreak Why did the United States government decline to renew funding for one of the research programs during the crisis Why did one of the key researchers state that the epidemic may have been caused by a contaminated needle Did the initial outbreak really originate with a two year old child in an isolated area In The Ebola Outbreak in West Africa Nana challenges standard explanations of the virus origins and demonstrates that many questions remain unanswered
