The Earliest Christian Artifacts The Earliest Christian Artifacts:

The Earliest Christian Artifacts Larry W. Hurtado, 2006-11-02 Review Much attention has been paid to the words of the earliest Christian canonical and extracanonical texts yet Larry Hurtado points out that an even more telling story is being overlooked the story of the physical texts themselves He introduces readers to the staurogram possibly the first representation of the cross the nomina sacra a textual abbreviation system and the puzzling Christian preference for book like texts over scrolls Drawing on studies by papyrologists and palaeographers as well as New Testament scholars and including photographic plates of selected manuscripts The Earliest Christian Artifacts examines the distinctive physical features of early Christian manuscripts illustrating their relevance for wider inquiry into the complex origins of Christianity book jacket

Graphic Signs of Authority in Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages, 300-900 Ildar Garipzanov, 2018-04-26 Graphic Signs of Authority in Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages presents a cultural history of graphic signs and examines how they were employed to communicate secular and divine authority in the late antique Mediterranean and early medieval Europe Visual materials such as the sign of the cross christograms monograms and other such devices are examined against the backdrop of the cultural religious and socio political transition from the late Graeco Roman world to that of medieval Europe This monograph is a synthetic study of graphic visual evidence from a wide range of material media that have rarely been studied collectively including various mass produced items and unique objects of art architectural monuments and epigraphic inscriptions as well as manuscripts and charters This study promises to provide a timely reference tool for historians art historians archaeologists epigraphists manuscript scholars and numismatists

Public Reading in Early Christianity Dan Nässelqvist, 2015-11-02 In Public Reading in Early Christianity Lectors Manuscripts and Sound in the Oral Delivery of John 1 4 Dan N sselqvist investigates the oral delivery of New Testament writings in early Christian communities of the first two centuries C E He examines the role of lectors and public reading in the Greek and Roman world as well as in early Christianity N sselqvist introduces a method of sound analysis which utilizes the correspondence between composition and delivery in ancient literary writings to retrieve information about oral delivery from the sound structures of the text being read aloud Finally he applies the method of sound analysis to John 1 4 and presents the implications for our understanding of public reading and the Gospel of John The Early Text of the New Testament Charles E. Hill, Michael J. Kruger, 2012-06-14 The Early Text of the New Testament aims to examine and assess from our earliest extant sources the most primitive state of the New Testament text now known What sort of changes did scribes make to the text What is the quality of the text now at our disposal What can we learn about the nature of textual transmission in the earliest centuries In addition to exploring the textual and scribal culture of early Christianity this volume explores the textual evidence for all the sections of the New Testament It also examines the evidence from the earliest translations of New Testament writings and the citations or allusions to New Testament texts in other early Christian writers

Texts and Artefacts Larry W. Hurtado, 2017-11-30 The essays included in this volume present Larry W Hurtado's steadfast analysis of the earliest Christian manuscripts. In these chapters Hurtado considers not only standard text critical issues which seek to uncover an earliest possible version of a text but also the very manuscripts that are available to us. As one of the pre eminent scholars of the field Hurtado examines often overlooked 2nd and 3rd century artefacts which are among the earliest manuscripts available drawing fascinating conclusions about the features of early Christianity. Divided into two halves the first part of the volume addresses text critical and text historical issues about the textual transmission of various New Testament writings. The second part looks at manuscripts as physical and visual artefacts themselves exploring the metadata and sociology of their context and the nature of their first readers for the light cast upon early Christianity. Whilst these essays are presented together here as a republished collection Hurtado has made several updates across the collection to draw them together and to reflect on the developing nature of the issues that they address since they were first written.
