

A wide-angle aerial photograph of a coastal region in the Netherlands. In the foreground, a large, multi-lane bridge with white support pillars stretches across a body of water. The water is dark blue with white, foamy waves. In the middle ground, a long, narrow strip of land or island is visible, covered with green fields and several white wind turbines. The background shows a flat, agricultural landscape under a clear, light blue sky.

The Dutch And Their Delta Living Below Sea Level:

The Dutch and Their Delta Jacob Vossestein, 2011 All over the world people learn in school that the Netherlands is a country that lies below sea level Dikes polders windmills and wooden shoes are well known icons of this unusual nation while its sturdy dams and storm surge barriers also enjoy world fame But how does it all work How can a country exist under such circumstances and even be prosperous One would expect the Dutch to panic about climate change but they don't seem to be how come This book will tell you all about it both in words and photos striking a balance between developments in the past the present and the future steering clear from both generalizations and too much technological detail Whether you are an expat tourist or far away individual who has taken an interest in the country this book will offer fascinating insights into how a society can function at sea level

Traces of Vermeer Jane Jolley, 2017-07-14 Johannes Vermeer's luminous paintings are loved and admired around the world yet we do not understand how they were made We see sunlit spaces the glimmer of satin silver and linen we see the softness of a hand on a lute string or letter We recognise the distilled impression of a moment of time and we feel it to be real We might hope for some answers from the experts but they are confounded too Even with the modern technology available they do not know why there is no evidence of any preliminary drawing why there are shifts in focus and why his pictures are unusually blurred Some wonder if he might possibly have used a camera obscura to capture what he saw before him The few traces Vermeer has left behind tell us little there are no letters or diaries and no reports of him at work Jane Jolley has taken a new path in this detective story A painter herself she has worked with the materials of his time the cochineal insect and lapis lazuli the sheep bones soot earth and rust She shows us how painters made their pictures layer by layer she investigates old secrets and hears travellers tales She explores how Vermeer could have used a lens in the creation of his masterpieces The clues were there all along After all this time now we can unlock the studio door and catch a glimpse of Vermeer inside painting light

Nomad Century Gaia Vince, 2022-08-23 The MOST IMPORTANT BOOK I imagine I'll ever read Mary Roach FROM AN AWARD WINNING SCIENCE JOURNALIST comes an urgent investigation of environmental migration the most underreported seismic consequence of our climate crisis that will force us to change where and how we live An IMPORTANT and PROVOCATIVE start to a crucial conversation Bill McKibben We are facing a species emergency We can survive but to do so will require a planned and deliberate migration of a kind humanity has never before undertaken This is the biggest human crisis you've never heard of Drought hit regions bleeding those for whom a rural life has become untenable Coastlines diminishing year on year Wildfires and hurricanes leaving widening swaths of destruction The culprit most of us accept is climate change but not enough of us are confronting one of its biggest and most present consequences a total reshaping of the earth's human geography As Gaia Vince points out early in Nomad Century global migration has doubled in the past decade on track to see literal billions displaced in the coming decades What exactly is happening Vince asks And how will this new great migration reshape us all In this deeply reported clarion call Vince draws on a career of environmental reporting and over two years of travel to the front lines of climate migration across the globe to tell us how the changes already in play will transform our food our cities our politics and much more Her findings are answers we all need now more than ever Living Shorelines Donna Marie Bilkovic,Molly M.
