Informing Public Policy Stefanie Haeffele, Abigail R. Hall, Adam Millsap, 2019-04-25 Market process theory illustrates how the market is the most effective institution for overcoming the knowledge problem. Specifically, the institutional characteristics of private property, monetary prices, and the disciplining mechanisms of profit and loss guide actors to utilize knowledge dispersed among society to allocate resources effectively and to adjust their behavior when errors occur to provide valuable goods and services to society. The chapters in this manuscript explore through applications to issues within the United States and internationally contemporary issues in public policy through the theoretical framework of knowledge problems and market process economics. Utilizing this approach as well as other fundamental insights from economics, these chapters aim to illustrate how individuals in society address pressing public issues, the problems faced by policymakers, and the potential for novel solutions to policy challenges. Authored by individuals from a variety of disciplines with interests in public policy, this work includes discussions of education, child welfare, urban planning, and U.S. healthcare policy, as well as topics in e-commerce, the Global War on Terror, international trade, and economic development. Taxes and Business Strategy Merle Erickson, Michelle Hanlon, Edward Maydew, Terry Shevlin, 2024-12-15 Through integration with traditional MBA topics, Taxes and Business Strategy provides a framework for understanding how taxes affect decision making, asset prices, equilibrium returns, and the financial and operational structure of firms. Target Audience: For MBA students and graduates embarking on careers in investment banking, corporate finance, strategy consulting, money management, or venture capital. Also great for entrepreneurs and for general knowledge of personal financial planning. The Tangled Garden Richard Stursberg, 2019-04-09 The emergence of Facebook, Amazon, Apple, Netflix, and Google, the FAANGs, has created an unprecedented challenge to Canada's news, television, and film businesses. In this book, Richard Stursberg offers a brief account, often based on his insider's experience, of how Canada's cultural industries were built. And he explains that independent Canadian media and cultural industries are unlikely to survive due to the large share of ad dollars and audience attention captured by the big digital media companies. Faced with similar challenges, many governments around the world have responded by protecting and strengthening their national cultural life. Canada stands out for its passivity. Richard Stursberg identifies the path that would assure a strong, continued news media and a reasonable share of audiences for Canadian creative work. He warns that time for action is short and many more media outlets will soon disappear, like the thirty-six newspapers shut down by the Toronto Star Postmedia deal in 2017. Richard Stursberg's knowledge and experience across a wide range of cultural organizations in Canada make this an important and informative book on a topic of vital significance. At the same time, this is an engaging account for any reader who wants to continue to enjoy Canadian stories and hear Canadian voices in the media and on our screens.
