No Code Required Allen Cypher, Mira Dontcheva, Tessa Lau, Jeffrey Nichols, 2010-05-21. No Code Required presents the various design system architectures, research methodologies and evaluation strategies that are used by end users programming on the Web. It also presents the tools that will allow users to participate in the creation of their own Web. Comprised of seven parts, the book provides basic information about the field of end user programming. Part 1 points out that the Firefox browser is one of the differentiating factors considered for end user programming on the Web. Part 2 discusses the automation and customization of the Web. Part 3 covers the different approaches to proposing a specialized platform for creating a new Web browser. Part 4 discusses three systems that focus on the customized tools that will be used by the end users in exploring large amounts of data on the Web. Part 5 explains the role of natural language in the end user programming systems. Part 6 provides an overview of the assumptions on the accessibility of the Web site owners of the Web content. Lastly, Part 7 offers the idea of the Web active end user, an individual who is seeking new technologies. The first book since Web 2.0 that covers the latest research, development and systems emerging from HCI research labs on end user programming tools. Featuring contributions from the creators of Adobe's Zentao and Intel's Mash Maker, discussing test results, implementation, feedback and ways forward in this booming area.

Terms of Service Jacob Silverman, 2015-03-17. Social networking has grown into a staple of modern society, but its continued evolution is becoming increasingly detrimental to our lives. Shifts in communication and privacy are affecting us more than we realize or understand. Terms of Service crystalizes this current moment in technology and contemplates its implications: the identity-validating pleasures and perils of online visibility, our newly adopted view of daily life through the lens of what is share-worthy, and the surveillance state operated by social media platforms. Facebook, Google, Twitter and others mine our personal data for advertising revenue, an invasion of our lives that is as pervasive as government spying. Jacob Silverman calls for social media users to take back ownership of their digital selves from the Silicon

Valley corporations who claim to know what's best for them Integrating politics sociology national security pop culture and technology he reveals the surprising conformity at the heart of Internet culture explaining how social media companies engineer their products to encourage shallow engagement and discourage dissent Reflecting on the collapsed barriers between our private and public lives Silverman brings into focus the inner conflict we feel when deciding what to share and what to like and explains how we can take the steps we need to free ourselves from its grip
