Curious Ian Leslie, 2014-08-26 A fun yet provocative look at the importance of staying curious in an increasingly indifferent world Everyone is born curious But only some retain the habits of exploring learning and discovering as they grow older Those who do so tend to be smarter more creative and more successful But at the very moment when the rewards of curiosity have never been higher it is misunderstood and undervalued and increasingly monopolized by the cognitive elite A curiosity divide is opening up In Curious Ian Leslie makes a passionate case for the cultivation of our desire to know Drawing on fascinating research from psychology economics education and business Leslie looks at what feeds curiosity and what starves it and finds surprising answers Curiosity is a mental muscle that atrophies without regular exercise and a habit that parents schools and workplaces need to nurture Filled with inspiring stories case studies and practical advice Curious will change the way you think about your own mental life and that of those around you

Stranger Than Fiction Edwin Frank, 2024-11-19 One of the Washington Post's 50 Best Nonfiction Books of 2024 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice A Boston Globe Best Book of 2024 Ambitious intelligent and happily unpretentious Louis Menand The New Yorker Convincing idiosyncratic and often felicitous Alexandra Jacobs The New York Times Book Review A legendary editor's reckoning with the twentieth century novel and the urgent messages it sends How can we live differently a young woman urgently demands in Virginia Woolf's novel The Years It is the 1930s war and death are in the air but her question was asked again and again in the course of a century where things changed fast and changed all the time The century brought world wars revolutions automobiles movies and the internet votes for women death camps The century brought questions Novelists in the twentieth century had a question of their own how can we write a novel as startling and unforeseen as the world we live in Again and again they did transforming the novel as the century remade the world Imagine the history of the twentieth century novel recounted with the urgency and intimacy of a novel That's what Edwin Frank the legendary editor who has run the New York Review Books publishing imprint since its inception does in Stranger Than Fiction With penetrating insight and originality Frank introduces us to books some famous some little known from the whole course of the century and from around the world Starting with Dostoevsky's Notes from Underground of 1864 Frank shows how its twitchy self undermining and never satisfied narrator established a voice that would echo through the coming century He illuminates the political vision of H G Wells's science fiction Colette and Andre Gide's subversions of traditional gender roles and Gertrude Stein's untethering of the American sentence He describes the monumental ambition of books such as Mrs Dalloway The Magic Mountain and The Man Without Qualities to rebuild a world of human possibility upon the ruins of World War I and explores how Japan's Natsume Soseki and Nigeria's Chinua Achebe broke open European models to reflect their own distinct histories and experience Here too are Vasily Grossman Anna Banti and Elsa Morante reckoning in specific ways with the traumas of World War II while later chapters range from Marguerite Yourcenar and V S Naipaul to Gabriel García Márquez and W G Sebald. The story as a whole is one of fearless often reckless exploration as well as unfathomable desolation. Throughout we discover the power of the novel to reinvent itself to find a way for itself to live differently. Stranger Than Fiction offers a new vision of the history and art of the novel and of a dark and dazzling time in whose light and shadow we still stand. Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007, 2008-02. Fiction, 1876-1983: Titles.
