Information Technologies in Environmental Engineering Jorge Marx Gómez,Michael Sonnenschein,Martin Müller,Heinz Welsch,Claus Rautenstrauch,2007-07-30 Potentially dangerous environmental changes are happening in the atmosphere oceans animal habitats and places where hazardous materials are used or have been discarded without adequate environmental protections. These increasing problems that also affect human health demand for interdisciplinary approaches where engineers natural scientists economists and computer scientists work together. Information technology has become significant to all scientific groups and fields involved in environmental engineering. Model based systems which enable the study of environmental changes have been developed and are being extended to manage those environments. New paradigms for designing objects to enable easy disassembly and recovery of components contribute to reuse. Web based formation systems enhance public awareness to environmental changes and allow participation in decision making. Developments in exploiting alternative energy sources are reducing dependence on non renewable sources. Numerical economy environment models contribute to co benefit analysis of environmental policy and environmental monitoring and accounting systems facilitate market based environmental regulation. Further advance is only possible if scientific teams have adequate experience methods and tools for investigation of the changes in the environment. Success requires a high level of organization related to technical as well as scientific and human aspects of information handling. This book publishes the results of the ITEE 2007 conference where information about the topics above has been presented and discussed among environmental engineers computer scientists and economists. businesses Therefore the main research question of this paper is whether artificial intelligence is reasonably applicable in Internet related businesses first in terms of effectiveness and second in terms of efficiency In the assessment the application of artificial intelligence in electronic businesses is represented by the employment of intelligent agents In harmony with the major research question emphasized above the paper provides a thorough discussion about the economic impact of the most common and relevant application types of intelligent agents on electronic commerce environments In addition the driving underlying technologies of intelligent agents are analysed with respect to artificial intelligence techniques and methods and current standardisation efforts Verzeichnis lieferbarer Bücher, 1999 Amtsblatt Berlin (Germany), 2007-11 Das
