Hess, Michael Q. McShane, 2021-03-04 In Educational Entrepreneurship Today Frederick M. Hess and Michael Q. McShane assemble a diverse lineup of high profile contributors to examine the contexts in which new initiatives in education are taking shape. They inquire into the impact of entrepreneurship on the larger field including the development and deployment of new technologies and analyze the incentives, barriers, opportunities and tensions that support or constrain innovation. Over the past decade entrepreneurship has moved from the periphery to the center of education reform. Policy measures, philanthropic support and venture capital increasingly promote initiatives that drive innovation within and outside the traditional education sector. These initiatives have included spectacular successes like Khan Academy, Teach For America and Wireless Generation as well as highly visible failures like the InBloom data warehouse. Educational Entrepreneurship Today offers critical perspectives on the impact of entrepreneurship and also includes lessons from leading entrepreneurs in which they use case studies drawn from their own experience to illustrate the realities of leading disruptive change in education and pose guiding questions for the next generation of innovators. In a time of increasing polarization around education policy, this timely, frank and insightful volume shows how we can begin to create systems in which entrepreneurial ideas and fresh thinking are welcomed, constructively employed and held accountable for the public good. Mathematical Learning and Cognition in Early Childhood Katherine M. Robinson, Helena P. Osana, Donna Kotsopoulos, 2019-05-07 This book explores mathematical learning and cognition in early childhood from interdisciplinary perspectives including developmental psychology, neuroscience, cognitive psychology and education. It examines how infants and young children develop numerical and mathematical skills, why some children struggle to acquire basic abilities and how parents, caregivers and early childhood educators can promote early mathematical development. The first section of the book focuses on infancy and toddlerhood with a particular emphasis on the home environment and how parents can foster early mathematical skills to prepare their children for formal schooling. The second section examines topics in preschool and kindergarten such as the development of counting procedures and principles, the use of mathematics manipulatives in instruction and the impacts of early intervention. The final part of the book focuses on particular instructional approaches in the elementary school years such as different additive concepts, schema based instruction and methods of division. Chapters analyze the ways children learn to think about work with and master the language of mathematical concepts as well as provide effective approaches to screening and intervention Included among the topics The relationship between early gender differences and future mathematical learning and participation The connection between mathematical and computational thinking Patterning abilities in young children Supporting children with learning difficulties and intellectual disabilities The effectiveness of tablets as elementary mathematics education tools Mathematical Learning and Cognition in Early Childhood is an essential resource for researchers graduate students and professionals in infancy and early childhood development child and school psychology neuroscience mathematics education educational psychology and social work Teaching and Learning Mathematics Online James P. Math-Chess-Puzzles Connection Frank Ho, Amanda Ho, 2015-12-14 What's wrong with the traditional drill computation? From a tutoring point of view, there is nothing wrong to give them to children for practice on fluency and grasp of basics. However, there is something wrong from children's point of view: that is, they are boring, dull, and not fun. Why do children feel that way? Well, the time has changed, but the format of traditional computation worksheets has not caught up with the pace of the society. The future belongs to a generation who understands how to process information, and the information might include digits, bytes, numbers, graphics, images, languages, symbols, equations, etc. Children today might chat with others on the internet while downloading or uploading files and viewing movie clips at the same time. Multi-tasking and the multi-way of processing information seem to have come as a second nature to children, but is our computation format reflecting the way that children are living today? Certainly not. This is one reason why children feel so bored and lost interest to continue to work on the same old style of computation worksheets. These simple, monotonic, basic number facts computation worksheets are no longer reflecting the real world which the young generation is facing today or will be living in the future. The computing world children are facing today is much like a rich tapestry where diversified fabrics and colours are integrated. Children today are absorbing not just numbers but an array of information like image, sound, music, symbols, spatial information, or even abstract ideas, all bundled together and delivered through many types of media. Children today are not happy just working on pure number drill without any other stimulus or motivator. After realizing the importance of having fun while learning, Ho Math Chess has been embarked on an important teaching philosophy that is to integrate chess and puzzles into math worksheets so that children can learn math while having fun. Ho Math Chess has created a series of special printable workbooks to have a synergetic effect by integrating or converging arithmetic, basic number facts, chess mazes, and information processing all in one worksheet. This is accomplished through Ho Math Chess's own trademarked proprietary technologies such as Symbolic Chess Language (SCL), Frankho Puzzle, Frankho Maze, and the Ho Math Chess training set. With this invention of math chess and puzzles integrated worksheets, a child is acting as a data warehouse manager and sorts, matches, or classifies data in an information environment which simulates a cell phone screen using an incredible variety of learning concepts, namely chess symbols, spatial relation, logic, comparison, tables, patterns, mazes, computing, etc., by networking all kinds of information together. The learning process is much like to search information using the internet. Only when children have successfully followed instructions using SCL and as a result created a question themselves, can a solution be found at last. Ho Math Chess workbook is a multi-function workbook; it trains children not only their basic computing ability but also trains them to be an astute data warehouse manager or an excellent data miner by developing their problem-solving ability and critical thinking skills.
