Sir Gawain Eleven Romances And Tales Teams Middle English Texts:

Sir Gawain Thomas Hahn, 1995-07-01 This volume is the first affordable modern collection of all eleven of the known Middle English Gawain tales and aims to make these texts accessible to a wider contemporary audience. These poems The Wedding of Sir Gawain and Dame Ragnelle Sir Gawain and the Carle of Carlisle The Avowyng of Arthur The Awyntre off Arthur The Knightly Tale of Gologras and Gawain The Greene Knight The Turke and Sir Gawain The Marriage of Sir Gawain The Carle of Carlisle The Jeaste of Sir Gawain and King Arthur and King Cornwall are united by their common concern with the theme of chivalry. Sir Gawain was by far the most popular of Arthur's knights in medieval England and the verses collected here offer a window not only into English views on Gawain but also attitudes towards the knightly ideal and chivalry. Incorporating glosses and introductions for each text as well as an extensive glossary this edition is excellent for students of Middle English romance

The Cambridge Companion to Medieval Romance Roberta L. Krueger, 2000-06-22 This Companion presents fifteen original and engaging essays by leading scholars on one of the most influential genres of Western literature. Chapters describe the origins of early verse romance in twelfth century French and Anglo Norman courts and analyze the evolution of verse and prose romance in France Germany England Italy and Spain throughout the Middle Ages. The volume introduces a rich array of traditions and texts and offers fresh perspectives on the manuscript context of romance the relationship of romance to other genres popular romance in urban contexts romance as mirror of familiar and social tensions and the representation of courtly love chivalry other worlds and gender roles. Together the essays demonstrate that European romances not only helped to promulgate the ideals of elite societies in formation but also held those values up for questioning. An introduction a chronology and a bibliography of texts and translations complete this lively useful overview.

Convention and the Individual in Medieval English Romance Lucy Brookes, 2025-04 Offers a nuanced reading of character and subjectivity in medieval romance via an exploration of its conventions. Medieval romances can be characterised by their formulaic motifs predictable plots and stock figures and character types. This book offers a fresh perspective on these conventions arguing that authors used them and the expectations they generate as a form of shorthand to interiority. Understanding romance conventions in this way reveals that romance characters complex and often contradictory inner lives are made available precisely through the genre's narrative structures shapes and norms. Drawing upon recent work in the History of Emotions and Affect Theory the author explores character and subjectivity in a variety of English romance texts from 1100 to 1500 such as Amis and Amiloun Le Bone Florence of Rome The Squire of Low Degree Sir Orfeo Sir Gawain and the Green Knight and Malory's Le Morte Darthur. Through new readings of these texts the book demonstrates the contribution made by romance to the growing significance of the individual in fiction after the twelfth century by paying particular attention to the ways in which convention expectation and genre intersect with character formation and the representation of identity. ade by romance to the growing significance of the individual in fiction after the twelfth century by

Narrating Medicine in Middle English Poetry Eve Salisbury,2022-08-11 Exploring medical writing in England in the 100 years after the advent of the Great Mortality this book examines the storytelling practices of poets patients and physicians in the midst of a medieval public health crisis and demonstrates how literary narratives enable us to see a kinship between poetry and the healing arts Looking at how we can learn to diagnose a text as if we were diagnosing a body Salisbury provides new insights into how we can recuperate the voices of those afflicted by illness in medieval texts when we have no direct testimony She considers how we interpret stories told by patients in narratives mediated by others ways that women factor into the shaping of a medical canon how medical writing intersects with religious belief and memorial practices governed by the Church and ways that regimens of health benefit a population in the throes of an epidemic

The Knightly Tale of Golagros and Gawane Ralph Hanna,William Raymond Johnston Barron,2008 The Knightly Tale of Golagros and Gawane the finest of all Older Scots romances was written during the last quarter of the fifteenth century It uses the thirteen line alliterative stanza to vivid effect Its greatest sophistication however lies in its thematic engagement with matters of sovereignty and chivalry in its persistent interest in negotiated exchanges rather than outright warfare and in its moving depictions of the limitations of an aristocratic ethos fundamentally dedicated to destructive violence For this new edition the text has been re edited from the sole witness the version published by Scotland s first printers Chepman and Myllar in 1508 The introduction and notes show how the poet works from two Arthurian adventures he derived from a prose continuation of the Old French Perceval following a Scottish tradition of rehandling prose material into verse They also reveal however the poem s extensive knowledge of an earlier romance likely composed on the borders of north western England The Awntyrs of Arthur at the Tarn Wadling and thus situate Golagros against traditions both French and English Beyond this much light is shed on early print culture in Scotland RALPH HANNA is Professor of Palaeography at the University of Oxford and a Fellow of Keble College
