Child Development in Africa: Views From Inside

Serpell,Kofi Marfo,2014-12-19 In this volume African scholars engaged in research on the continent reflect on their recent and ongoing empirical studies. They discuss the strengths and limitations of research methods, theories and interventions designed outside Africa to spur innovative research on the continent. And they explore how insights from African philosophical, theoretical and empirical work can be combined with exogenous forms of knowledge to generate understanding of the processes of African children's development in ways that are responsive to local contexts and meaningful for indigenous stakeholders. A new field of African child development research is emerging in African societies focusing on children as valued and vulnerable members of society and potential civic leaders of the future. Systematic inquiries are now designed to enhance our understanding of how African children think to discover effective ways of communicating with them and to inform successful strategies of promoting their health education and preparation for adult responsibilities in society. This is the 146th volume in this Jossey Bass series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development. Its mission is to provide scientific and scholarly presentations on cutting edge issues and concepts in this subject area. Each volume focuses on a specific new direction or research topic and is edited by experts from that field.

Boggild, Micaela Cook Karlsen, 2024-10-22 Let food be thy medicine a mantra famously attributed to Hippocrates captures the central role of nutrition and dietary patterns in human health. Not only is the food we consume linked to prevention of diseases of dietary deficiency such as scurvy, pellagra and Kwashiorkor so too is it related to diseases of caloric abundance such as type 2 diabetes, obesity and hypertension. Moreover, patterns of food consumption are increasingly linked to restoration of health and maintenance of disease-free states following diagnoses such as cardiovascular disease, stroke and cancer. Finally, our ever-expanding knowledge of the human microbiome's role in health and disease continues to implicate patterns of food consumption to microbial diversity and function and their impact on mood, cognitive status and metabolic health. Never has the scientific examination of Hippocrates famous tenet been more timely and needed. Food As Medicine is complementary to the field of lifestyle medicine which promotes health behavior change across six domains including nutrition, exercise, sleep, stress or substance use exposure to prevent, treat and potentially reverse lifestyle-related chronic disease.
