energy

Organisms obtain energy in a process called (1) cellular respiration. This process harvests electrons from carbon compounds, such as (2) glucose, and uses that energy to make (3) ATP. ATP is used to provide (4) energy for cells to do work. In (5) Glycolysis, glucose is broken down into pyruvate. Glycolysis is a(n) (6) anaerobic process because it does not require oxygen. Glycolysis takes place in the (7) cytoplasm. Two molecules of ATP and two molecules of (8) NADH are formed for every glucose molecule that is broken down. (9) aerobic respiration takes place in the (10) mitochondria. It is aerobic because the process requires (11) oxygen.

Study Guide for Use with Financial Accounting Robert Libby,Patricia A. Libby,Daniel G. Short,2003 Libby Libby Short wrote this text based on their belief that the subject of financial accounting is inherently interesting but financial accounting textbooks are often not They believe most financial accounting textbooks fail to demonstrate that accounting is an exciting field of study and one that is important to future careers in business When writing this text they considered career relevance as their guide when selecting material and the need to engage the student as their guide to style pedagogy and design Libby Libby Short is the only financial accounting text to successfully implement a real world single focus company approach in every chapter Students and instructors have responded very favorably to the use of focus companies and the real world financial statements The companies chosen are engaging and the decision making focus shows the relevance of financial accounting regardless of whether or not the student has chosen to major in accounting
