

Sound

Sound is energy moving in waves—sound is energy vibrating through substances.

All sounds are caused by vibrations—the back and forth motion of molecules.

Energy is needed to start an object vibrating to make sound. You can clap, pluck, blow, hit, or move something in many ways to make vibrations.

Sound waves carry energy. That is because the energy that starts something vibrating is carried by the sound produced.

A vibrating object makes many sound waves that move away from it in all directions.

A sound wave is vibrating particles in areas of crowded particles followed by widely spaced particles that travel in waves.

The sounds that you hear are usually moving through air. When a sound wave moves through air, the air molecules vibrate back and forth in the same direction as the sound. The vibrations push the air molecules close together, then pull them apart. These waves are called longitudinal waves. Longitudinal waves move in the same direction as the force making them.

The part of a longitudinal wave in which the molecules are squeezed together is called a compression. The molecules are compressed, or squeezed together into a smaller space.
