Topic 4.3 What is a species?

Exercise 4.3A Different species

White rhinoceroses and Indian rhinoceroses belong to different species. This means that they cannot reproduce with each other to produce fertile offspring.

White rhinoceroses and Indian rhinoceroses do not look exactly the same as one another. Indian rhinoceroses have one horn but white rhinoceroses have two horns.

Exercise 4.3B Horses, donkeys and mules

Look for these features in the students' answers.

- An appreciation of the importance of using several specimens to study, because of variation within a species, but that studying too many of the frogs might endanger the species, especially if these are not returned to their natural habitat.
- A clear, simple description or list of what evidence the scientists should collect. This could include information about observable features, such as coloration, measurements of body parts, behaviour and perhaps a study of its genes, and that these should be compared with the same features in other similar frog species. Some students might also suggest studying the tadpole, to see if they differ in any way from the tadpoles of the other species.
- Reference to the ability of this frog to breed with known species of frog to produce fertile offspring.
- Suggestions about how the scientists could use their information to test their hypothesis that the frog belongs to a new species, such as investigating whether the newly-found frogs can breed with other similar species, as well as making a detailed comparison of their appearance with these other species.
