Hitchcock,1978-12-15 The Conference on Urban Housing Markets sponsored by the Centre for Urban and Community Studies in October 1977 was the first major conference on housing to be held in Canada since the First Canadian Housing Conference sponsored by the Canadian Welfare Council in 1968 This volume is at once a record of the Conference and a review of important recent research on urban housing markets and related public policy issues The book captures the flavor of a lively debate between academics and policy analysts and the commentaries and discussion sections provide in non technical language a statement of some major questions confronting government policy on housing In addition to its use as a record of an important Canadian conference the book is a valuable collection of recent housing research The ten papers cover a wide variety of topics ranging from conceptual and methodological issues on the one hand to critiques of Canadian housing policies on the other They indicate the range of issues which must be taken into account in assessing housing policy Taken together with the discussion material which helps to focus attention on strategic issues in both Canada and the United States they provide a useful introduction to current debates over housing policy      The Silent Depression United States. Sugawara,Victor Sulla,Ashley Taylor,Anna I. Gueorguieva,Victoria Levin,Kalanidhi Subbarao,2009-12-02 The crisis threatens the welfare of about 160 million people in the Europe and Central Asia ECA region who are poor or are just above the poverty line Using pre crisis household data along with aggregate macroeconomic outturns to simulate the impact of the crisis on households transmitted via credit market shocks price shocks and income shocks this report finds that adverse effects are widespread and that poor and non poor households alike are vulnerable By 2010 for the region as a whole some 11 million more people will likely be in poverty and over 23 million more people will find themselves just above the poverty line because of the crisis The aggregate results mask the heterogeneity of impact within countries including the concentration of the poverty impact in selected economic sectors Meanwhile stress tests on household indebtedness in selected countries suggest that ongoing macroeconomic shocks will expand the pool of households unable to service their debt many of them from among the ranks of relatively richer households In fact already there are rising household loan delinquency rates Finally there is evidence that the food and fuel crisis is not over and a new round of price increases via currency adjustments will have substantial effects on net consumers Lessons from last year s food crisis suggest that the poor are the worst hit as many of the poor in Albania Kyrgyz Republic and Tajikistan for example are net food consumers with limited access to agricultural assets and inputs The resilience of households to macroeconomic shocks ultimately depends upon the economy s institutional readiness the flexibility of the economic policy regime and the ability of the population to adjust However compared with previous crises the scope for households to engage in their traditional coping strategies may be more limited Fiscal policy responses in the short term are also constrained by rapidly falling revenues Governments in ECA have to make difficult choices over what spending items to protect and what items to cut social protection programs to reform and scale up and new interventions to mitigate the impact of the crisis Price
