

Solutions are homogeneous mixtures of two or more substances. The substance present in smaller amount in the mixture is called the solute while the substance that has greater amount is the solvent. The solute is dissolved in the solvent. Homogenous means that you cannot identify the particles of the solute and the solvent separately in the solution. Mixture means that the solute and the solvent retain their individual properties and that the solute and the solvent are only physically combined. A solution can be gaseous like air, liquid like soda or solid like metal brass (alloy of copper and zinc).

Aqueous solutions are solutions in which the solvent is water.

Electrolytic solutions are solutions that can conduct electricity due to the presence of dissolved ions.

Non-electrolytic solutions are solutions that cannot conduct electricity because the solutes do not ions when dissolved in water.

Electrolyte is a solute that results to an electrolytic solution when dissolved in water.

Non-electrolyte is a solute that does not result to an electrolytic solution when dissolved in water.

In strong electrolytic solutions (solutions of strong electrolytes), the electrolyte is assumed to be 100% dissociated. Dissociation pertains to the separation of positive and negative ions in an electrolyte. If we have a strong electrolyte like Potassium Nitrate (KNO_3), what this means is that KNO_3 completely separates to K^+ and NO_3^- when dissolved in water. No KNO_3 is left undissociated.

The table below shows strong and weak electrolytes as well as non-electrolytes.

Strong electrolytes	Weak electrolytes	Non-electrolytes
HCl	CH_3COOH	$(\text{NH}_2)_2\text{CO}$
HNO_3	HF	CH_3OH
HClO_4	HNO_2	$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH}$
H_2SO_4	NH_3	$\text{C}_6\text{H}_{12}\text{O}_6$
NaOH	H_2O	$\text{C}_{12}\text{H}_{22}\text{O}_{11}$
$\text{Ba}(\text{OH})_2$
Ionic compounds

Therefore, NaOH completely dissociates to form Na^+ and OH^-

The (aq) subscript indicates that the ions are dissolved in water. Notice that the arrow is unidirectional which means that the reverse reaction does not happen spontaneously.

For weak electrolytes like HF, the process is reversible and eventually reaches an equilibrium state in which the rate with which HF dissociate to H^+ and F^- ions is equal to the rate with which H^+ and F^- ions recombine to form HF.

Precipitation Reactions

Precipitation reactions are reactions that lead to the formation of precipitates which are water insoluble, solid substances.
