Head of Marketing
Avantis, Inc.
3500 Hall Valley Drive

Dear Ashley,

Two months ago, I hit a goal I never thought I'd reach. I pushed SEO traffic to 20-million monthly stores. One year ago, traffic for our four sites—all of which I manage through a team of 20 employees—reached at just 4 million per month. Upper management challenged me to lead the team toward doubling our traffic. We hit that goal in just six months, blowing away our sales revenue forecasts in the process.

I know your main upcoming challenge will be to grow revenue from your new website. With over seven years' experience in SEO and social media marketing, and as someone who is passionate about staying on the leading edge of tech, I'm confident I can repeat the growth I achieved with XYZ as your new Digital Marketing Manager.

In my current position, I successfully lead creative strategy and internal development teams. Specifically, I have:

- Skyrocketed Inbound Marketing ROI by 40%.
- Reduced Cost Per Lead by 25%.
- Boosted Landing Page Conversion Rates by 50%.

What impresses me most about your online marketing strategy is that you've managed to create a self-reliant team aligned with two basic key metrics only: traffic and conversions. This perfectly reflects my core professional values.

I'm adept at reading Google and user search intent, then translating that to measurable returns. Can we schedule a call to discuss ideas for growing your revenue by 25% in 2019?

Thank you for your time. I look forward to hearing from you.

spelling errors and typos to give you a fresh perspective Not including the name of the hiring manager If you don't know who is going to read your cover letter and resume try to find out When in doubt call the company and ask who the person in charge of that department is so you can target your letter appropriately Not writing to an audience Focus each letter on each employer According to Career Builder 44 percent of executives polled said it's common for applicants to use their cover letters to show they've learned more about the job Doing so can give you an edge against the competition Failing to sell yourself If you undersell your skills and qualifications you won't make an impression on the reader Don't just talk about your accomplishments give concrete examples Regurgitating the resume Cover letters weren't meant as a tool to repeat everything that's in your resume It's a tool to build on it and an opportunity to correlate your experience with the job you're applying for Include any training classes awards and recognition you've received in the past that might give you an edge over the competition Buy a copy to keep reading
