

A large, rugged mountain peak against a clear blue sky. The mountain has dark, rocky slopes and patches of snow or ice on its upper ridges. The sky is a bright, clear blue.

The tipping point is that magic moment when an idea, trend, or social behavior crosses a threshold, tips, and spreads like wildfire.

Brisco,2022-08-01 Farmer Kane Brisco s tools for the physical and mental strains of life on the land Kane s journey of wisdom is both relatable and of high value DOUG AVERY The Resilient Farmer When Kane Brisco was at his lowest ebb he could barely even look at his stock He stood in the middle of a paddock with water flowing over his boots trying to comprehend how many days of rain he d endured without a break Three weeks later the ground had turned to concrete split by huge cracks Consumed by a myriad of problems the weather tipping him over the edge Kane lost confidence in his own ability and didn t know if he could financially survive Every day felt like a disaster and even at the end of the day when he was at home with his family his mind was still out on the farm worrying about his animals Farmers have to make tough decisions on a daily basis while shouldering a mountain of pressure alone Good physical health and strength might lead to better all round resilience but often farmers are so concerned with doing the right things for their animals that they forget about looking after themselves What Kane Brisco came to realise is how important farm fitness is to coping with the daily challenges and unpredictability of life on the land In Tools for the Top Paddock Kane shares the experiences that made him almost quit farming along with the simple methods he developed for dealing with the mental and physical strains of life on the land He offers advice for people doing it tough as well as how to build the fitness required to thrive in good times and bad Double the Numbers Richard Kazis,Joel Vargas,Nancy Hoffman,2004 Double the Numbers explores policies that are likely to serve as building blocks in any next phase of education reform that tackles the dual problems of high school completion and postsecondary access and success Only 25 percent of the U S high school students complete any college degree Among African American youth only 18 percent earn a baccalaureate by age twenty nine For Hispanic Americans the figure is a mere 10 percent The United States urgently needs to address this problem For reasons of intellectual and professional opportunity economic efficiency and social equity the nation must do a better job of preparing young people not only to enter college but also to earn credentials that are key to professional and economic success Double the Numbers highlights emerging strategies at state district and school levels for improving postsecondary outcomes High schools pose special challenges in this regard how to motivate older adolescents in school settings how to overcome the rigidities of high school schedules and routines how to prepare students for smooth transitions to postsecondary learning and success This book explores policies that are likely to serve as building blocks in any next phase of education reform that tackles the dual problems of high school completion and postsecondary access and success The contributions from many of the leading figures in education reform such as Kati Haycock Robert Schwartz and Marc Tucker address these issues from a number of distinct perspectives The authors propose changes in the designs fo high schools and colleges innovations that could overcome the discontinuities perverse incentives and inflexibilities of existing educational institutions They focus on state policy because to double the number of students attaining postsecondary credentials within a decade will require aggressive innovation by states Finally they consider how oppoortunities and outcomes vary by race ethnicity and gender and they look at the implications of these variations for policy and practice
