Time and Narrative, Volume 3 Paul Ricoeur, 2024-05-31 In the first two volumes of this work Paul Ricoeur examined the relations between time and narrative in historical writing fiction and theories of literature This final volume a comprehensive reexamination and synthesis of the ideas developed in volumes 1 and 2 stands as Ricoeur s most complete and satisfying presentation of his own philosophy Ricoeur s aim here is to explicate as fully as possible the hypothesis that has governed his inquiry namely that the effort of thinking at work in every narrative configuration is completed in a refiguration of temporal experience To this end he sets himself the central task of determining how far a poetics of narrative can be said to resolve the aporias the doubtful or problematic elements of time Chief among these aporias are the conflicts between the phenomenological sense of time that experienced or lived by the individual and the cosmological sense that described by history and physics on the one hand and the oneness or unitary nature of time on the other In conclusion Ricoeur reflects upon the inscrutability of time itself and attempts to discern the limits of his own examination of narrative discourse As in his previous works Ricoeur labors as an incomparable mediator of often estranged philosophical approaches always in a manner that compromises neither rigor nor creativity Mark Kline Taylor Christian Century In the midst of two opposing contemporary options either to flee into ever more precious readings or to retreat into ever more safe readings Ricoeur s work offers an alternative option that is critical wide ranging and conducive to new applications Mary Gerhart Journal of Religion

Narrative in Health Care John D. Engel,2008 The authors of this work a social scientist a physician executive a counselor and a nurse are the engineers of a shift in culture curriculum and practice at Summa Health System a large health system affiliated with the Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine Here they examine narrative healthcare practices within frameworks derived from the social sciences psychology phenomenology and autobiographical theory They relate the development of narrative medicine to relationship centered care arguing that narrative medicine can help physicians to develop the skills required to practice relationship centered care such as reading and telling complex stories writing reflectively compassionate presence and exercising the moral imagination

Writing and Righting Lyndsey Stonebridge,2020-11-26 A bold and accessible argument for the moral and political value of literature in rightless times The obvious humanity of books would seem to make literature and human rights natural allies But what is the real connection between literature and human rights In this short polemical book Lyndsey Stonebridge shows how the history of human rights owes much to the creative imagining of writers Yet she argues it is not enough to claim that literature is the empathetic wing of the human rights movement At a time when human rights are so blatantly under attack the writers we need how are the political truth-tellers the bold callers out of easy sympathy and comfortable platitudes

Outside, America Hikaru Fujii,2013-04-25 The idea of the outside as a space of freedom has always been central in the literature of the United States This concept still remains active in contemporary American fiction however its function is being significantly changed Outside America argues that among contemporary American novelists a shift of focus to the temporal dimension is taking place No longer a spatial movement the quest for the outside now seeks to reach the idea of time as a force of difference à la Deleuze by which the current subjectivity is transformed. In other words the concept is taking a temporal turn. Discussing eight novelists including Don DeLillo, Richard Powers, Paul Theroux, and Annie Proulx, each of whose works describe forces of given identities, masculine identity, historical temporality, and power etc, which block quests for the outside, Fujii shows how the outside in these texts ceases to be a spatial idea. With due attention to critical and social contexts, the book aims to reveal a profound shift in contemporary American fiction.

Time and Narrative: Part IV: Narrated time. Introduction. Section 1: The aporetics of temporality. 1. The time of the soul and the time of the world: the dispute between Augustine and Aristotle. 2. The Journal of Narrative Technique, 1992     The Journal of Speculative Philosophy, 1995     Supplementary Volume Aristotelian Society (Great Britain), 1996     The American Scholar William Allison Shimer, 1988

Time and Narrative Paul Ricoeur, 1985. Discusses the conflict between subjective time and historical time, looks at how fiction and historical writings create a model of temporal experience, and considers the question of sense and reference.

Arc, 2000     Ambiguous Dangers Roger W. Green, 1994     Narrating Our Healing C. N. Van der Merwe, Pumla Gobodo-Madikizela, 2008. Although written from within a South African context, this book has a much wider relevance. It offers illuminating perspectives on the process of narrating our healing, the sharing of personal narratives, the appropriation of literary narratives, and above all, the re-creating of life narratives shattered by trauma.

The Expository Times, 1890     The Pre-text of Ethics Diane Moira Duncan, 2001. The Pre-Text of Ethics is a very readable introduction to both Derrida and Levinas, focusing on the latter's influence on deconstruction, especially on the meaning of justice and the notion of the gift. Without deconstructing the beauty of Levinas's vision, Diane Moira Duncan aims to show that Levinas's views on women contradict his general project, which aims to defend heteronamy against philosophical narcissism. This book represents an organic overview of the development of Levinas's thought and situates a critique of his phenomenology of the feminine face and philosophy of woman in this context. It makes a significant contribution to the question of the ethics of deconstruction.
