how antislavery scientists and Black and white abolitionists used scientific ideas to discredit slaveholders In the context of slavery science is usually associated with slaveholders scientific justifications of racism But abolitionists were equally adept at using scientific ideas to discredit slaveholders Looking beyond the science of race The Science of Abolition shows how Black and white scientists and abolitionists drew upon a host of scientific disciplines from chemistry botany and geology to medicine and technology to portray slaveholders as the enemies of progress From the 1770s through the 1860s scientists and abolitionists in Britain and the United States argued that slavery stood in the way of scientific progress blinded slaveholders to scientific evidence and prevented enslavers from adopting labor saving technologies that might eradicate enslaved labor While historians increasingly highlight slavery s centrality to the modern world fueling the rise of capitalism science and technology few have asked where the myth of slavery s backwardness comes from in the first place This book contends that by routinely portraying slaveholders as the enemies of science abolitionists and scientists helped generate that myth The Fuller Bristler, 1923 Early Childhood Education Karen Menke Paciorek, Joyce Huth Munro, 1996 Early childhood education is an interdisciplinary field that includes child development family issues educational practices behavior guidance and curriculum The book brings you the latest information on the field from a wide variety of recent journals newspapers and magazines In making the selections of articles the editors were careful to provide the reader with a well balanced look at the issues and concerns facing teachers families society and children Given the wide range of topics it includes the book may be used with several groups undergraduate or graduate students studying early childhood education professionals pursuing further development or parents seeking to improve their skills To the reader
