The Technology Of Love Vol 1:

Love, Technology and Theology Scott A. Midson, 2020-06-25 This volume explores love in the context of today's technologies. It is difficult to separate love from romanticist ideals of authenticity, intimacy, and depth of relationship. These ideals resonate with theological models of love that highlight the way God benevolently created the world and continues to love it. Technologies, which are designed in response to our desires, do not necessarily enjoy this romanticist resonance, and yet they are now remodelling the world. Are technologies then antithetical to love? In this volume, leading theologians have brought together themes of theology, technology, and love for the first time, exploring different areas where notions of love and technology are problematized. In a world where algorithms and artificial intelligences interact with us and shape our lives in ever more intricate and even intimate ways, we might feel attachments to, and through, machines that suggest sentiments of love while also changing how we think about love. Does love always have to be reciprocal? How can we enact love and care for others with technologies? Whose desires do technologies serve: consumers, corporations, creatures? This volume offers a systematic review of the challenges of living in a technologically saturated world by means of critical application of, as well as reflection on, theological discussions about love. Handbook of Food Science, Technology, and Engineering - 4 Volume Set Y. H. Hui, Frank Sherkat, 2005-12-19 Advances in food science, technology, and engineering are occurring at such a rapid rate that obtaining current, detailed information is challenging at best. While almost everyone engaged in these disciplines has accumulated a vast variety of data over time, an organized, comprehensive resource containing this data would be invaluable to have. The The Technology Monthly and Harvard Engineering Journal, 1914 Science and Technology in World History, Volume 4 David Deming, 2016-04-13 The history of science is a story of human discovery intertwined with religion, philosophy, economics, and technology. The fourth in a series, this book covers the beginnings of the modern world when 16th-century Europeans began to realize that their scientific achievements surpassed those of the Greeks and Romans. Western Civilization organized itself around the idea that human technological and moral progress was achievable and desirable. Science emerged in 17th-century Europe as scholars subordinated reason to empiricism. Inspired by the example of physics, men like Robert Boyle began the process of changing alchemy into the exact science of chemistry. During the 18th century, European society became more secular and tolerant. Philosophers and economists developed many of the ideas underpinning modern social theories and economic policies. As the Industrial Revolution fundamentally transformed the world by increasing productivity, people became more affluent, better educated, and urbanized, and the world entered an era of unprecedented prosperity and progress. In the Service of Love Richard Marsh, 1906 Monthly Bulletin for the Providence Public Library ... Providence Public Library (R.I.), 1895 The Publishers Weekly, 1905 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1925 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1890 Publishers' circular and booksellers' record, 1881 Book Review Index Cumulation Dana
