ZAGORIA

THE SINO-SOVIET CONFLICT 1956-1961

Donald S. Zagoria traces the development of Sino-Soviet relations between the U.S.S.R. and China during the period from the 20th Party Congress in 1956 to the 22nd Party Congress held in the fall of 1961. While the Soviet Union and China are united in their overall purpose and in their unwavering opposition to the West, they show signs of increasing strain in their uneasy partnership.

The book begins with Khrushchev's secret denunciation of Stalin in 1956, which was followed by a programme of de-Stalinization. In that year Peking first began to distance its foreign policy from Moscow by supporting Communist parties against Moscow, by advocating a greater degree of independence for local Communist parties. They then urged a militant struggle against the West, even to the risk of local war. At home the Chinese Left, which came to power in 1957, decided on a drastic departure from the Soviet model of economic development, a departure which eventually led to the great "Leap Forward" and the famine. The conflict thus developed and widened as these major areas: global strategy, domestic policy, and inter-Sino relations.

These three areas of dispute have played the relation between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, and have affected their differing policies and attitudes toward the United States, Yugoslavia, Poland, the Eastern Bloc, the new developing areas in Africa, Asia, and the Middle East. In studying these differing policies, and their implications, Mr. Zagoria makes extensive use of the published statements of the Chinese and Russian Communists.

DONALD S. ZAGORIA, a member of the Social Science Division of the RAND Corporation, was from 1951 to 1960 an analyst of Communist bloc policies for the United States government.

Sino-Soviet Conflict, 1956-1961 Donald S. Zagoria, 2015-12-08 What happens if the two most powerful partners in the Communist world cannot agree on basic issues of principle and policy Donald S Zagoria who was from 1951 to 1961 an analyst of Communist Bloc politics for the U S Government traces the development of serious conflict between the U S S R and China from the 20th Party Congress in 1956 to the 22nd Party Congress in late 1961 This conflict has enveloped three major areas global strategy domestic policy and intra Bloc relations and has plagued the relations between Khrushchev and Mao Tse tung and affected their differing attitudes toward de Stalinization the communes Yugoslavia Taiwan and the developing African and Asian nations In studying these differing policies Mr Zagoria makes extensive use of the published statements of the Chinese and Russian Communists his analysis of this literature is in itself an important contribution to all future evaluations of Communist intentions Originally published in 1962 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 International Rivalry and Secret Diplomacy in East Asia, 1896-1950 Bruce Elleman, 2019-08-30 East Asia was a major focus of struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union during the Cold War of 1945 to 1991 with multiple hot and cold conflicts in China Korea and Vietnam The struggle for predominance in East Asia however largely predated the Cold War as this book shows with many examples of the United States and Russia the Soviet Union working to exercise and increase control in the region The book focuses on secret treaties 26 of them signed from the mid 1890s through 1950 when secret agreements between China and the USSR including several concerning the Chinese Eastern Railway gave Russia greater control over Manchuria and Outer Mongolia One of the most important was negotiated in 1945 when Stalin signed the Sino Soviet Friendship Treaty with Chiang Kai shek and the Chinese Nationalists that included a secret protocol granting the Soviet Navy sea control over the Manchurian littorals This secret protocol excluded the US Navy from landing Nationalist troops at the major Manchurian ports thereby guaranteeing the Chinese Communist victory in Northeast China from Manchuria the Chinese Communists quickly spread south to take all of Mainland China To a large degree therefore this formerly undiscussed secret diplomacy set the underlying conditions for the Cold War in East Asia The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, 1969 The Junior College Library Collection , 1970 Nuclear Research and Technology in Communist China United States.
