Six Drawing Lessons William Kentridge, 2014-09-01 Art William Kentridge says is its own form of knowledge. ### Theorizing Film Through Contemporary Art Jill Murphy, Laura

Rascaroli, 2025-10-01 As the cinematic experience becomes subsumed into today's ubiquitous technologies of seeing, contemporary artworks lift the cinematic out of the immateriality of the film screen and separate it into its physical components within the gallery space. How to read these reformulations of the cinematic medium and their critique of what it is and has been. In Theorizing Cinema Through Contemporary Art Expanding Cinema leading film theorists consider artworks that incorporate restage and re-present cinema's configuration of the key categories of space, experience, presence, absence, production and consumption, technology, myth, perception, event and temporality so interrogating the creation, appraisal and evolution of film theory as channeled through contemporary art. This book takes film theory as a blueprint for the moving image and juxtaposes it with artworks that render cinema as a material object. In the process it unfolds a complex relationship between a theory and a practice that have commonly been seen as virtually incompatible renewing our understanding of each and more to the point their interactions

The Uncaring, Intricate World Pamela

Reynolds, 2019-08-16 In the 1950s the colonial British government in Northern and Southern Rhodesia (present day Zambia and Zimbabwe) began construction on a large hydroelectric dam that created Lake Kariba and dislocated nearly 60 000 indigenous residents. Three decades later Pamela Reynolds began fieldwork with the Tonga people to study the lasting effects of the dispossession of their land on their lives. In The Uncaring, Intricate World Reynolds shares her field diary in which she records her efforts to study children and their labor and by doing so exposes the character of everyday life. More than a memoir, her diary captures the range of pleasures, difficulties, frustrations, contradictions and grappling with ethical questions that all anthropologists experience in the field. The Uncaring, Intricate World concludes with afterwords by Jane I Guyer and Julie Livingston who critically reflect on its context, its meaning for today and relevance to conducting anthropological work.

William Kentridge Leora Maltz-Leca, 2018-01-26 Introduction on the southern tip of Africa. Process as metaphor, the metaphysics of erasure, History as process, theaters of politics and Hegel in Africa. Process, procession, a process of change. Drawing up, drawing out, drawing as thinking, Projection, the most promiscuous of metaphors. Being contemporary, up south, world time and other doubtful enterprises

Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography Henrik

Gustafsson, 2019-05-24 This book offers a rare and innovative consideration of an enduring tendency in postwar art to explore places devoid of human agents in the wake of violent encounters. looking and imagining Closely engaging with a vast array of works made by artists filmmakers and photographers each who has forged a distinct vantage point on the aftermath of crime and conflict the study selectively maps the afterlife of landscape in search of the political and ethical agency of the image By way of a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography brings landscape studies into close dialogue with contemporary theory by paying sustained attention to how the gesture of retracing past events facilitates new configurations of the present and future
