Feminist Foremothers in Women's Studies, Psychology, and Mental Health Ellen Cole, Esther D Rothblum, Phyllis Chesler, 2014-05-12 Feminist Foremothers in Women's Studies Psychology and Mental Health is by and about the more recent wave of feminist foremothers those who were awakened in the 1960s and 70s to the realization that something was terribly wrong These are the women who created the fields of feminist therapy feminist psychology and women's mental health as they exist today The 48 women share their life stories in the hope that they will inspire and encourage readers to take their own risks and their own journeys to the outer edges of human possibility Authors write about what led up to their achievements what their accomplishments were and how their lives were consequently changed They describe their personal stages of development in becoming feminists from unawareness to activism to action Some women focus on the painful barriers to success fame and social change others focus on the surprise they experience at how well they and the women's movement have done Some well known feminist foremothers featured include Phyllis Chesler Gloria Steinem Kate Millett Starhawk Judy Chicago Zsuzsanna Emese Budapest Andrea Dworkin Jean Baker Miller Carol Gilligan In Feminist Foremothers in Women's Studies Psychology and Mental Health many of the women see in hindsight how prior projects and ideas and even dreams were the forerunners to their most important work They note the importance of sisterhood and the presence of other women and the loneliness and isolation

experienced when they don't exist. They note the validation they have received from grassroots feminists in contrast to disbelief from professionals. Although these women have been and continue to be looked up to as foremothers, they realize how little recognition they've been given from society at large and how much better off their male counterparts are. Some foremothers write about the feeling of being different, not meshing with the culture of the time and about challenging the system as an outsider, not an insider. These are women who had few mentors, who had to forge their own way, hit the ground running. Their stories will challenge readers to press on to continue the work these foremothers so courageously started. Throughout the pages of Feminist Foremothers in Women's Studies: Psychology and Mental Health, there is a sense of excitement and vibrancy of lives lived well, of being there during the early years of the women's movement, of making sacrifices, of taking risks, and of living to see enormous changes result. Throughout these pages, too, sounds a call not to take these changes for granted but to recognize that feminists, rather than arguing over picayune issues or splitting politically correct hairs, are battling for the very soul of the world.

The Question of Space Marijn Nieuwenhuis, David Crouch, 2017-09-29. The spatial turn has been deeply influential across the humanities and social sciences for several decades. Yet despite this long-term influence, most volumes focus mainly on geography and tend to take a Eurocentric approach to the topic. The Question of Space takes a multidisciplinary approach to understanding how the spatial turn has affected other disciplines. By connecting developments across radically different fields, the volume bridges the very borders that separate the academic space. From new geographies through performance, the internet, politics, and the arts, the distinctive chapters undertake conversations that often surprisingly converge in approach, questions, and insights. Together, the chapters transcend longstanding disciplinary boundaries to build a constructive dialogue around the question of space.

Hop on Pop Henry Jenkins III, Jane Shattuc, Tara McPherson, 2003-01-23. A major collection of fan-based cultural studies work, largely by a new generation of scholars.

Women's Studies Linda Krikos, Cindy Ingold, 2004-08-30. This truly monumental work maps the literature of women's studies, covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed, often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance, or contribution to women's studies and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. This definitive guide to the literature of women's studies is a must-purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs, and it is a useful addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field. A team of subject specialists has taken on the immense task of documenting publications in the area of women's studies in the last decades of the 20th century. The result is this truly monumental work, which maps the field, covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance or contribution to women's studies, and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Most reviews cite and describe similar and contrasting titles, substantially extending the coverage. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. Taking up where the previous volume by Loeb Searing and Stineman left off, this is the definitive guide to the literature of women's studies. It is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs and a welcome addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field. Reader's Guide to Women's Studies Eleanor Amico, 1998-03-20. The Reader's Guide to Women's Studies is a searching and analytical description of the most prominent and influential works written in the now universal field of women's studies. Some 200 scholars have contributed to the project, which adopts a multi-layered approach, allowing for comprehensive treatment of its subject matter. Entries range from very broad themes such as Health General Works to entries on specific individuals or more focused topics such as Doctors.

The WomanSource Catalog & Review Ilene Rosoff, 1995 Redefining the Political Alex J.

Moffett-Bateau, 2024-09-06. Identifies socio-political concepts and frameworks that can be used to recognize and understand the styles of political engagement, political rebellion, and political identity creation used by poor Black women living in the United States.

Sacred Pampering Principles Debra J. Gandy, 1998-09-16. Originally self-published to enormous acclaim and demand, Sacred Pampering Principles is a beautifully written guide with hundreds of easy and innovative ways for on-the-go women to pamper their bodies and nurture their spirits. With her holistic approach to filling your life with comfort, balance, and peace, Debra Jackson Gandy debunks society's myth that doing something for yourself is decadent and selfish. In fact, she says the joy we gain from treating ourselves, whether to a luxuriant bath or to a meditative hour alone, is transferred to the people in our lives. When we emerge rejuvenated, others benefit from a patient mother, a fulfilled wife, an effective coworker, a solidly grounded friend. Written for African American women but accessible to women of all races, Sacred Pampering Principles demonstrates not only pampering ideas but also explains why pampering for less time and money than one might imagine is vital to a balanced life. African American Review, 2011. Feminist Rhetorical Theories

Karen A. Foss, Sonja K. Foss, Cindy L. Griffin, 1999-03-02. Providing fully developed rhetorical theories from feminist perspectives, this book offers coherent systematic overviews of complex large bodies of work and ideas relevant to rhetoric and communication. The book presents theories developed from the work of nine feminist theorists, each from diverse standpoints, demonstrating the diversity of both feminism and feminist rhetorical theories. Chris Kramarae, Bell Hooks, Gloria Anzaldúa, Mary Daly, Starhawk, Paula Gunn Allen, Trinh T. Minh-ha, Sally Miller Gearhart, and Sonia Johnson. The resulting theories differ substantially from traditional rhetorical theories and will encourage scholars to rethink many traditional rhetorical constructs. Gender Identity, Psychology, and Lifestyle Alan J. Lauber, 2007. Gender encompasses biological sex

but extends beyond it to the socially prescribed roles deemed appropriate for each sex by the culture in which we live The gender roles we each carry out are highly individualistic built on our biological and physical traits appearance and personality life experiences such as childhood career and education and history of sexual and romantic interactions Each element influences perceptions and expectations Gender related experiences influence and shape the ways we think about others and ourselves including self image behaviour mood social advancement and coping strategies This book brings together leading international research devoted to this subject as well as important advances in psychology and lifestyle

The American Humanities Index Stephen H. Goode,1997      Mental Health Care in the African-American
