Sixties Wayne Modest Mirjam Shatanawi:

The Routledge Handbook of the Global Sixties Chen Jian,Martin Klimke,Masha Kirasirova,Mary Nolan,Marilyn Young,Joanna Waley-Cohen,2018-02-06 This extraordinary collection is a game changer. Featuring the cutting edge work of over forty scholars from across the globe. The Routledge Handbook of the Global Sixties is breathtaking in its range, incisive in its analyses, and revolutionary in method and evidence. Here fifty years after that iconic 1968 Western Europe and North America are finally de-centered if not provincialized and we have the basis for a complete remapping. A thorough reinterpretation of the Sixties Jean Allman J H Hexter Professor in the Humanities Director Center for the Humanities Washington University in St Louis. This is a landmark achievement. It represents the most comprehensive effort to date to map out the myriad constitutive elements of the Global Sixties as a field of knowledge and inquiry. Richly illustrated and meticulously curated, this collection purposefully provincializes the United States and Western Europe while shifting the loci of interpretation to Africa, the Middle East, Asia, and Latin America. It will become both a benchmark reference text for instructors and a gateway to future historical research. Eric Zolov Associate Professor of History Director Latin American Professor of Public Affairs and History The University of Texas at Austin. As the fiftieth anniversary of 1968 approaches, this book reassesses the global causes, themes, forms, and legacies of that tumultuous period. While existing scholarship continues to largely concentrate on the US and Western Europe, this volume will focus on Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and Eastern Europe. International scholars from diverse disciplinary backgrounds explore the global sixties through the prism of topics that range from the economy, decolonization, and higher education to forms of protest, transnational relations, and the politics of memory.

Art, Global Maoism and the Chinese Cultural Revolution Jacopo Galimberti, Noemi de Haro García, Victoria H. F. Scott, 2019-11-18. This is the first book to explore the global influence of Maoism on modern and contemporary art. Featuring eighteen original essays written by established and emerging scholars from around the world and illustrated with fascinating images not widely known in the West, the volume demonstrates the significance of visuality in understanding the protean nature of this powerful worldwide revolutionary movement. Contributions address regions as diverse as Singapore, Madrid, Lima, and Maputo, moving beyond stereotypes and misconceptions of Mao Zedong Thought's influence on art to deliver a survey of the social and political contexts of this international phenomenon. At the same time, the book attends to the similarities and differences between each case study. It demonstrates that the chameleonic appearances of global Maoism deserve a more prominent place in the art history of both the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.

Radical Utopianism and Cultural Studies John Storey, 2019-01-25. In Radical Utopianism and Cultural Studies John Storey looks at the concept of utopianism from a cultural studies perspective and argues that radical utopianism can awaken the political promise of cultural studies. Between the Preface and the Postscript there are seven chapters that explore different aspects of radical utopianism. The book begins with a definition of what radical utopianism means with its productive combination of defamiliarization and desire. From there it considers Thomas More's invention of the concept of utopia with its double articulation of what is and what could be. Herbert Marcuse's utopian rereading of Sigmund Freud's concept of repression. Gerrard Winstanley and the Diggers, the Paris Commune and the Haight Ashbury counterculture. In the final chapter Storey examines two versions of utopian capitalism: retro and post. Although the main focus here is on Donald Trump's presidential election campaign and Paul Mason's recent bestseller Postcapitalism, the chapter begins with a brief discussion of Karl Marx on capitalism. Each chapter in a different way argues that radical utopianism defamiliarizes the manufactured naturalness of the here and now, making it conceivable to believe that another world is possible. This book provides an ideal introduction to utopianism for students of cultural studies as well as students within a number of related disciplines such as sociology, literature, history, politics and media studies.

Flow of Forms / Forms of Flow Kerstin Pinther, Alexandra

Weigand, 2019-09-23. As a teenager I spent my time wondering why in sci fi movies every landscape every object I could see was Western or Asian based. I've finally understood that somewhere our legacy had been locked in the past that we couldn't be futuristic in the eyes of our fellow Europeans. We have to look behind our shoulders, get back to our traditions, seize the best of them and shape a future with it. This without forgetting we are part of the world totally unquestionably. The future is for me not only a matter of dialogue with the past but and beyond everything a dialogue with the rest of the planet. Kossi Aguessy. How is it possible to adequately capture histories of design in Africa, a continent with fifty four countries? How can one avoid producing just another essentialising master narrative of African Design? How can one make sense of the many entangled yet often asymmetric and sometimes ambivalent histories of form finding processes between Africa and Europe? In keeping with the premises of a global art and design history approach the book offers a change of perspective focusing on the mobility of people, objects and ideas on flows between Africa and Europe as well as on a South-South axis allows for multiple yet necessarily fragmented design histories to be identified and recognised. The contributors trace multi-faceted design case studies from a historical perspective with attention to the present as well as towards possible futures.

Arrival Cities Burcu Dogramaci, Mareike Hetschold, Laura Karp Lugo, Rachel Lee, Helene Roth, 2020-09-01

Exile and migration played a critical role in the diffusion and development of modernism around the globe yet have long remained largely understudied phenomena within art historiography. Focusing on the intersections of exile artistic practice and urban space this volume brings together contributions by international researchers committed to revising the historiography of modern art. It pays particular attention to metropolitan areas that were settled by migrant artists in the first half of the 20th century. These arrival cities developed into hubs of artistic activities and transcultural contact zones where ideas circulated, collaborations emerged and concepts developed. Taking six major cities as a starting point (Bombay now Mumbai, Buenos Aires, Istanbul, London, New York and Shanghai) the authors explore how urban topographies and landscapes were modified by exiled artists re-establishing their practices in metropolises across the world. Questioning the established canon of Western modernism.

Arrival Cities investigates how the migration of artists to different urban spaces impacted their work and the historiography of art. In doing so it aims to encourage the discussion between international scholars from different research fields such as exile studies, art history, social history, architectural history, architecture and urban studies.
