University Rankings, Diversity, and the New Landscape of Higher Education, 2019-02-18 University rankings are a relatively new phenomenon in higher education Although quite an established practice in the U S it is only within the last decade that attempts to analyse university performance have spread to the rest of the world and that we also have seen new global rankings appear rankings attempting to measure university performance beyond national borders No wonder that this trend is accompanied by a growing interest in studying rankings throughout the world This book is written as part of the effort to better understand rankings and their effects on higher education A serious approach towards university rankings implies that rankings should be analysed properly including the methods used and the indicators chosen and investigate the objectives claimed If university rankings are considered as consumer information then everyone should have an interest in basing such guidance on valid and reliable data and methodology A serious analysis should also discuss the wider implications of rankings as an emerging phenomenon in higher education Consequently the contributions to this book investigate and analyse how different rankings work how they reach their conclusions and on what data and methodology they are built Furthermore it provides a critical reflection about the impact of rankings on higher education how and in what way rankings influence policy making the structure of the sector or the internal life of the sector

The Impact of Higher Education Ranking Systems on Universities Kevin Downing,Petrus Johannes

Loock,Sarah Gravett,2021-04-05 This book written by three generations of rankings academics with considerable experience from three very different regions of the globe lifts the lid on the real impact of higher education ranking systems HERS on universities and their stakeholders It critically analyses the criteria that make up the Big Three global ranking systems and using interviews with senior administrators academics and managers discusses their impact on universities from four very different continents Higher education continues to be dominated by a reputational hierarchy of institutions that sustains and is reinforced by HERS Despite all the opinions and arguments about the legitimacy of the rankings as a construct it seems experts agree that they are here to stay The question therefore seems to be less about whether or not universities should be compared and ranked but the manner in which this is undertaken Delivering a fresh perspective on global rankings this book summarizes the development of HERS and provides a critical evaluation of the effects of HERS on four different major regions South Africa the Arab region South East Asia and Australia It will appeal to any academic student university administrator or governing body interested in or affected by global higher education ranking systems
