Valentino Objects Of Couture:

Valentino: Objects of Couture Maria Grazia Chiuri, Pierpaolo Piccioli, 2013-11-05 With specially commissioned photography this unprecedented volume celebrates a legacy of accessories design by the legendary couture house of Valentino. This lavish tribute to the couture house of Valentino's accessories line is exceptionally timely since the long time accessories team Maria Grazia Chiuri and Pierpaolo Piccioli took over as the creative directors for Valentino in 2008 the house has experienced record breaking success and received international acclaim. Known for their daring approach redefining femininity Chiuri and Piccioli's continuance of accessories design has only magnified the line's popularity. Equally important is Chiuri and Piccioli's transformation of traditional Italian handcraftsmanship into a new international barometer of glamorous design. By infusing the highest quality materials and crafts with streetwise attitude their accessories have become some of the most coveted items in the fashion world. Valentino Objects of Couture showcases commissioned images and artworks by various well known artists: David Bailey, Luisa Lambri, Nobuyoshi Araki, Duane Michals, Scheltens Abbenes, Philip Lorca di Corcia and Douglas Gordon of over 300 of the house of Valentino's most well known accessory designs. Art directed by REM Ruini e Mariotti and along with an insightful essay by the art curator Francesco Bonami, this work presents a rich volume in celebration of Valentino's exquisitely designed collections. This book is perfect for devotees of fashion style photography and glamour and also anyone who understands that a Valentino handbag or heels even when paired with jeans is statement worthy.

Alessandro Michele Judith Beyer, 2015-11-11 Before Alessandro Michele took the creative helm at Gucci in 2015 the brand was mostly known for its sleek sophistication and sexy hedonism. Despite having worked at the Italian fashion house for over twelve years as the accessories and jewellery designer Michele was relatively unknown in the fashion industry and the public sphere. All of that was to change when he sent his models down the runway for the 2015 Fall Winter ready to wear collection in an eclectic mix of pussy bow blouses, chiffon dresses, wallpaper prints and a motley collection of accessories including fur lined loafers, berets and granny style horn rimmed glasses. Michele's stylistic design approach created an aesthetic reminiscent of the fashion eccentric who wears flea market finds with high end designer and heirloom pieces, imperfect, nostalgic and maximalist. The new Gucci woman and man were intellectual and sensual misfits who are perfectly at home in the glamorous rag tag aesthetic of a Wes Anderson film. With his inaugurate collection Michele tapped into the zeitgeist that was yearning for a more colourful and playful design and a disregard of traditional gender divisions while Gucci has hitherto showcased its men's and women's collections separately as well as favoured traditional masculine and feminine looks respectively. Michele broke with the idea of a gender binary ushering in gender fluidity and a new fantastical vision of masculinity. Although his collections were spectacular in their scope the Fall Winter 2017 consists of roughly 120 looks, the designs are also a testimony to his ability to scramble signifiers of gender, pop culture history and time. Referencing and borrowing from philosophical concepts and ideas such as the infamous Cyborg collection Gucci Fall Winter

2019 that envisioned subjectivities beyond the confines of the human body with replica heads or extra eyes on their hands the Fall Winter 2016 collection titled Rhizomatic Scores referencing Deleuze and Guattari's influential concept or the Fall Winter 2020 menswear collection titled Masculine Plural that referenced Butler's notion of gender performativity Michele exemplifies a fashion auteur who knows how to play not only with gender signifiers but also with signifiers of time culture and species

Fashion Curating Annamari Vänskä, Hazel Clark, 2017-12-28. As the practice of fashion curation extends into commercial galleries, public and retail spaces and even to the individual self, professional concepts of curating are undergoing rapid change. Today everyone is seemingly able to curate, but where does this leave the traditional understanding of curation as clothing collected and displayed in a museum? This thought provoking volume explores the practice of fashion curating in the 21st century, bridging the gap between methods of display and notions of the curatorial in fashion exhibitions, commercial settings and the virtual world. From fashion's earliest forays into the museum to creative collaborations between luxury fashion brands and artists, this book challenges understandings of fashion curation by drawing on the palpably new spaces, places and actors in today's curating scene. Exploring poetic and performative museum displays in venues such as the V&A Somerset House, MoMu and the Royal Ontario Museum alongside the ways that brands such as Dior, Chanel and Louis Vuitton have made use of the curatorial in their own commercial strategies, Fashion Curating asks pressing questions about controversial funding and collaboration from the commercial fashion sector and the limitations of producing exhibitions that are at the same time critical and popular. Bringing together approaches from fashion curators, designers and world renowned academics, curation is positioned as a critical practice that opens up new ways of conceptualizing and theorizing fashion, challenging how we think and what we already know.
