Reshaping

High School English Bruce Pirie,1997 This book takes up the question of what shape high school English studies should take in the coming years It describes an English program that blends philosophical depth with classroom practicality Drawing examples from commonly taught texts such as Macbeth To Kill a Mockingbird and Lord of the Flies the book places literary analysis within a postmodern framework It explores recent literary and educational theory including reader response theory and cultural studies The book devotes attention to the process of reading and its relationship to creative writing which is put forward as an essential rather than a supplementary part of high school English programs The end result is that the book provides insights on textuality media studies drama and the 5 paragraph essay The book also serves as a call for increased teacher involvement in curriculum reform While the book s primary purpose is to examine what does and does not make sense in high school English teaching in view of current theory it offers readers examples of effective classroom practice that takes English in the right direction NKA
