Political and Legal Transformations of an Indonesian Polity Franz von Benda-Beckmann, Keebet von Benda-Beckmann, 2013-08-15 Political and Legal Transformations of an Indonesian Polity is a long term study of the historical transformations of the Minangkabau polity of nagari property relations and the ever changing dynamic relationships between Minangkabau matrilineal adat law Islamic law and state law While the focus is on the period since the fall of President Suharto in 1998 the book charts a long history of political and legal transformations before and after Indonesia's independence in which the continuities are as notable as the changes It also throws light on the transnational processes through which legal and political ideas spread and acquire new meanings The multi temporal historical approach adopted is also relevant to the more general discussions of the relationship between anthropology and history the creation of customary law identity construction and the anthropology of colonialism

Period Drama Faye Woods, 2021-12-07 Period drama is a genre of prestige and pleasure realism and fantasy spectacle and intimacy It is embedded in national pasts but speaks to the present tracing connections continuities and change It reconstructs and reimagines the spaces and places of the past and considers how lives were shaped by the classed raced and gendered structures of society Period drama is invested in the bodily and emotional experience of the past it delights in the intricacies and textures of clothing the erotics of the gaze and moments of touch It is often viewed as a genre of escape nostalgia and traditionalism Yet it has the potential to challenge dominant cultural narratives and explore under represented histories helping to reshape our understandings of our own histories This book maps out the dominant debates surrounding television period drama Through a series of themed programme case studies it charts the genre's investments and preoccupations considering its place within television industries and contemporary culture Streaming Media and Cultural Memory in a Postdigital Society Renira Rampazzo Gambarato, Johannes
