Volvo is the world-wide leader in safety research. This year, Volvo will begin safety studies and testing for front airbags, an automatically deployed side-impact airbag, and research to prevent the side-impact side-curtain airbag. New airbag laws are now in the works for passenger vehicles and the expansion of airbag laws, requiring front airbags and side-impact airbags, is also in the works. The side-impact airbag laws will cover passenger cars, vans, SUVs, minivans, and other vehicles. And, all new cars will have side-impact airbags in 1995. Volvo has also been working on a side-impact airbag that would reduce your driving by about 10 percent.

Volvo has developed an easy-to-apply side-impact and side-curtain airbags, as well as the other safety features mentioned in this book regarding seat belt safety, including the side-impact airbag. For further information regarding these features, please contact your Volvo dealer.
